Nazi Dance of Death In London

Namesake of the Lambeth Walk, dance swept the so-called civilized world just before the war began, is torn into a shambles by German bombs... which scored direct hits on the Lambeth Walk Market. Now, the dance is ended, and the market looks like this... with air raid precaution workers making safe tottering walls.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20 (AP) — Reversing a previous opinion, selective service officials stated today that married men would not be deferred automatically as a class from compulsory training.

British Air Ambush Drives 200 Planes to France In Rout

LONDON, Sept. 20 (AP)—British fighters repulsed more than 200 German planes in a massive battle over the southeast coast this morning and the raiders were seen racing in disorder toward the French coast, British sources reported today, following night-long Nazi raids on London and heavy R. A. F. counter-blows against German inland continental bases and "invasion ports."

U.S. MOVE LOOMS TO STOP JAPS

BULLETIN
LONDON, Sept. 20 (AP)—Informed British sources said today talks having particular reference to defense measures in the Pacific are proceeding in Washington among Secretary of State Hull, the British ambassador and the Australian minister.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20 (INS)—Relief prevailed here today the administration planned some "11th hour" move to restrain Japan from sending troops into French Indo-China after conferences between Secretary of State Hull and his Far Eastern advisers. Meanwhile, usually well-informed sources understood the United States and Great Britain have been discussing secretly an agreement whereby the U. S. navy might use the great British naval base at Singapore—one of the most modern and best-defended in the world. State Department officials refused to confirm the reports.

An International News Service dispatch from Shanghai indicated a sudden increase in tension between Japan and Indo-China and reported swift movements by the U. S. fleet. Editor's Note.

The question of Japan's possible invasion of Indo-China, most important source of American tin and rubber imports, was brought up by reports that the weak French government felt it could hold out no longer against Tokyo's demand for permission to dispatch 25,000 troops through the colony to strike at China from the south.

The American government would not be overly concerned if it were convinced Japan planned to use Indo-China merely as a route of approach to China proper, and nothing more. But officials are convinced, in the light of previous Japanese adventures in neighboring territory, that once Japanese International News Service reported the Nazi attackers numbered 300 to 400 and the new British strategy of an "aerial ambush" caused tremendous confusion and complete rout of the German planes. — Editor's Note.

The authoritative British Press Ass'n said British fighters, hidden in the clouds waiting for the Germans, pounced on them as they reached the Kent coast and a free-for-all followed. The Press Ass'n's correspondent, describing the battle, said the raiders were driven relentlessly back eastward and the fight continued over the sea.

RAIDERS OVER LONDON

Later a formation of Hurricanes and Spitfires came flying home to the cheers of watchers below.

Near Dover, one German fighting plane spun out of the sky trailing smoke and crashed in hills near the channel port.

German raiders also appeared over London and the Thames estuary during the morning.

Londoners, warned to air raid shelters when the attackers appeared, emerged again shortly after noon, when it was believed the danger had passed.

Anti-aircraft batteries kept up a thunderous barrage against the estuary raiders until British fighters sped to the attack.

BLAST GERMAN POINTS

British bombers, striking at German bases while the Nazis were subjecting London to its 13th consecutive all-night attack, blasted the Dortmund-Ems canal and other vital communications in Germany proper and a number of ports and airfields in German-occupied territory.

While it was expected that most fathers and husbands would be deferred, the deferment decisions must be made by local draft boards on the merits of each individual case, they said.

In the World War draft, 344,872 men claimed deferment because of recent marriages, but 122,563 of them were reclassified after investigation and placed in the first group subject to call.

Draft selection regulations as originally planned would have instructed local boards, in view of the small number of men needed, to defer all married men.

However, it was found that such regulations would conflict with the law, which requires that each case be decided on its merits, with the final decision resting with the local board unless appealed.

The question of dependency will not be assumed, and the boards have wide latitude in determining whether wives, relatives or wards actually are dependent upon the earned income of a man claiming deferment.

While officials moved to further safeguard jobs, homes and other interests of draftees, Massachusetts today awaited copies of conscription forms to be used for enrollment of an estimated 562,000 Bay State men, starting Oct. 16.

Nazi Troopship, 4000 Men Sunk

LONDON, Sept. 20—The British Admiralty reported today the torpedo sinking of a 10,000-ton German troop transport in a burst of smoke and flames, adding belated support to reports that nearly all of 4000 men aboard were lost.

A communiqué said that the Submarine Sturgeon picked the transport out of a naval and plane escort as it poked into the twilight on the arm of the North Sea off Denmark on Sept. 2 and fired its torpedoes.

BRITISH AIR BOMBS KILL 600 GERMANS

BERLIN, Sept. 20 (AP)—Six hundred Germans have been killed and 1400 wounded by British aerial bombardments since the start of the war, informed sources estimated today as new bombings of some of Germany's most cherished towns were reported.

Heidelberg, picturesque university town on the banks of the Neckar, only 12 miles from the communications center of Mannheim, was raided this morning, these sources said, and three persons were killed.

Seven others were killed in other western German cities, particularly in the Rhineland, it was reported, and new batches of phosphorous incendiary "leaves" as well as bombs were scattered. The high command said "several" British planes made the raids.

While the press continued to threaten to "settle accounts with the British mercilessly," the high command's communiqué said:

"Battle planes continued retaliatory raids on London and war-essential objectives in western and central England."

"Numerous new fires resulted, especially in Liverpool," the communiqué added. But bad weather interfered with operations, and only one British plane was claimed to have been shot down. Three German planes are acknowledged to be missing. Heidelberg is noted for its university and its beer, but also has leather and machinery manufactures. Its university was established in 1386, and after Prague and Vienna, is the oldest German university in Europe.

PROPHETIC CHILD—Faith Hope Charity Harding, 4, who, her mother says, predicted the European war, the Hitler-Stalin pact and other events, was ordered returned to her father's custody by a Wilkesbarre, Pa., court order. The father, Harry, says the girl was taken by her mother to Tyron, S. C., to act as "child lama" for a cult.

Lenox Choir Singer Slain, Man Hunted

PITTSFIELD, Sept. 20 (AP)—The bludgeoned body of Miss Madeline Clark, attractive 44-year-old choir singer, was found floating today in Farnham's reservoir approximately 90 feet from a blood-daubed automobile, described as belonging to the man who escorted her from church last night.

Immediately after a medical examiner issued a "murder" report, Asst. Dist. Atty. Harold R. Goewey announced that witnesses had identified Miss Clark's companion of last night as Sylvester Dellear, 51-year-old Pittsfield man, married but separated from his wife.

While police from Pittsfield and nearby Lenox dragged the reservoir, after finding only a single trail leading to the water, the Massachusetts state police transmitted on a region-wide teletype system a call to "arrest and hold" Dellear "for questioning on a murder case."

BODY IS FOUND

The search for Dellear and Miss Clark, a soprano in the choir of St. Helene's Chapel in Lenox, who was described by friends as "very pretty," began early today when her mother notified police she had not returned home after a choir practice.

Miss Clark's body floated about 10 feet from the edge of the reservoir, at the end of an 80-foot trail leading from the blood-spattered automobile.

Patrolman Russell Wheeler said she was fully clothed except for her shoes, which were found not far from the car. He said a single set of footprints led to the water, together with marks that indicated a body had been dragged to the reservoir.

Three gashes were found on Miss Clark's head. Dr. George S. Wickham, the medical examiner, announced there probably would be some time before having worked in the same Pittsfield manufacturing establishment.

DESCRIPTION BROADCAST

Friends of the man and woman said they had known each other for some time and having worked in the same Pittsfield manufacturing establishment.

The state police call for the arrest of Dellear described 1 m follows: Five feet, nine inches; 175 pounds; brown hair, brown eyes, Italian and French extraction, walks with slight stoop and not friendly in personality.

The reservoir where Miss Clark's body was found supplies water to Pittsfield, but is located in nearby Lenox.

Dr. George S. Wickham of Lee, medical examiner, said Miss Clark's head had been battered and that death was due to "murder."

Dellear recently has been employed in a Pittsfield retail establishment.

Witnesses said Dellear met Miss Clark after a choir practice last night at St. Helene's Chapel in Lenox.

Legionnaires Start Pouring Into Boston

By JAMES F. McENANEY

Into Boston today poured the advance guard of legionnaires and auxiliary members for the 22nd annual convention of the American Legion, most important session of all it has held since its incorporation in 1919.

By nightfall at least 5000 of the World War veterans out of the 300,000 that will attend, are expected to be in the Hub, with the big rush to begin tomorrow and continue through Sunday.

Today's arrivals included representatives from as far away as Panama, California and Oklahoma, with delegations from France and Greece—two of the five foreign departments—due for a Saturday appearance.

HOTEL ROOMS GONE

Meanwhile hotels in Boston announced that there was literally not a room left to be hired, while rooming houses were rapidly being snapped up and not a few of the veterans would be quartered in private homes.

By Sunday night Boston's normal population will thus be swelled by nearly one-third—while on Tuesday, with more than 1,000,000 persons expected to view the 12-hour parade the normal population will be almost doubled.

First extra trains and buses had to be added today by transportation officials, while police said that an ever-increasing automobile traffic toward Boston was apparent.

Among those of the Oklahoma delegation arriving today were Raymond Fields of Guthrie, newspaper publisher and former department commander; Snooka Stafford, commander from Tulsa.

and Milt Phillips, Oklahoma state adjutant.

Actually there will be four conventions in one convention, with a total of 9800 official delegates. The main Legion convention has 7800 delegates, the Auxiliary has 1000, and the 49 and 8 has 500 and the 8 and 40 Auxiliary has the same number.

Trains from the north, south and west, arriving at North and South stations, brought many into the city today. Bus terminals in the

Worcester Pupils March Out in Fire

WORCESTER, Sept. 20—Early as it is in the school year, 200 pupils at the Millbury St. School showed today they have been well-grounded in fire drill. A blaze in a supply room in the cellar filled the school with smoke and the youngsters marched out as calmly as if it were all in practice. Damage was estimated at $200.

STORES TO CLOSE

Department and specialty stores generally along the route of the Legion parade will be closed Tuesday Sept. 24, the Retail Trade Board said today.

ALL FR. COUGHLIN RADIO TALKS OFF

DETROIT, Sept. 20 (AP)—T. Rev. Charles E. Coughlin has abandoned his plan for a new set of weekly radio talks, which had been scheduled to open on Sunday, Oct. 20.

In an interview in the current issue of Social Justice, the priest charged that "men powerful in the field of radio and other activities," had "forced the decision upon me."

The article said that in response to Father Coughlin's petition for a half-hour of time every Sunday for a year, most of the large stations declined "for various reasons," although many small stations accepted.

The paper quoted the priest as saying:

"I am definitely aware of efforts made in the past to ostracize me from the air. I am also aware that the sponsors of these efforts—men powerful in the field of radio and other activities—have not altered their resolution to silence me by any method or another."

"Insofar as they have forced a decision upon me, and with no alternative, I graciously accept it and at the same time extend to them my heartiest congratulations for all that the future holds in store for them."

With regard to the presidential campaign, Father Coughlin said he "could not in good conscience support either candidate." He added he would not broadcast again "until we cease to be wretched—it may be 10 months or it may be 10 years."

Worcester Has 2' Pound Baby

WORCESTER, Sept. 20—Doctors at City Hospital here disclosed today that they have a two-pound baby in the maternity ward and it is doing so well there is a better than even chance it will grow up to be a healthy boy.

The infant, born prematurely to Mrs. Ellen A. Luce of Cambridge St. on Aug. 22, tilted the scale at a shade less than two pounds at birth, but under special care now weighs 2 pounds, 7½ ounces. The child has been christened Roger.

Girl Clears Up Point in Variell Death

One point of mystery in the strange "symphony suicide" of Manford Schley Variell, Harvard graduate and accomplished musician, was seemingly cleared up today, but the case itself generally remained a puzzle.

Following a conference in his office—marked by the long-awaited appearance of 21-year-old Helen Lambert, petite and pretty New York blonde—Dist. Atty. Robert F. Bradford of Middlesex County said he is undecided over whether to ask for an inquest in the case.

Miss Lambert, admitted close friend of the musician, according to Cambridge police, told authorities at the conference that she herself had used the gas in Variell's Cambridge on Sept. 7, 8 and 9.

This tended to clear up one disputed point—how Variell could have taken his life with illuminating gas in the apartment kitchen when the meter showed no gas to have been used since Aug. 15, when last previously read.

The meter was being opened and inspected today by employees of the Cambridge Gas & Electric Co., to determine if it had failed to function, and why.

Still unexplained, however, was how the gas stove jets happened to be turned off when Variell's body was found early this week on the floor of the kitchen—if he did die from gas, as Medical Examiner

David C. Dow has stated officially.

Dr. Dow theorized, it was stated, that perhaps Variell, in a last few moments of consciousness—and perhaps having changed his mind about dying—turned off the gas before collapsing.

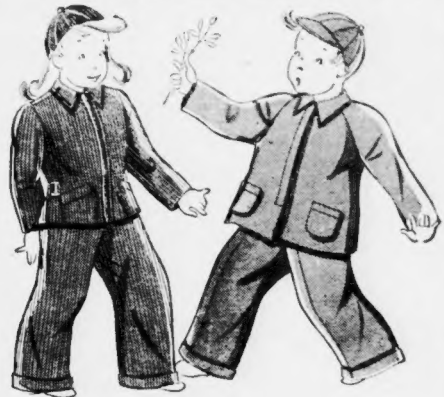

If this had occurred, however, the presumption is that he would not have been found—as police said he was found—lying in apparent composure on a mattress in the kitchen, with a sheet and blanket neatly drawn up and arranged over him.

Another and more tenable theory, it was pointed out, was that the musician might have deliberately turned the gas off, when he thought there was sufficient in the room, in order to envelop his death in mystery.

Woman's Bank Theft Story Hit

Although Miss Ernestine Holbrook, 40, of Norfolk, confesses to embezzlement of $17,000 from the East Walpole branch of the Walpole Trust Co., the government charged today in federal court that her story of spending it to locate a lost brother does not ring true.

Asst. U. S. Atty. Edward D. Hassan told the court he believed the woman, who admits embezzling the money while employed as a clerk, is not co-operating with the government and appears to be withholding very important information.

According to the confession obtained by G-men, which was read in court today, Miss Holbrook claims the money was given to a woman whose brother was a detective to defray expenses of a search for Miss Holbrook's lost brother.

In her confession Miss Holbrook stated that the money was embezzled between May, 1933, and August of this year through the medium of seven fictitious accounts which she juggled to prevent detection of her thefts.

Following reading of the confession, U. S. Commr. Howard W. Robbins found probable cause and continued bail of $7,990 pending submission of charges to a federal grand jury.

Nervous and trembling, the woman tearfully waived her right to a hearing before the confession she is alleged to have signed was read to the court.

Although Miss Holbrook in an earlier hearing, and again today, told the court, "I'm guilty," a formal plea of not guilty was entered in her behalf.

WESTMINSTER BOMB FALLS

LONDON, Sept. 20 (AP)—A bomb dropped in the grounds of Westminster Cathedral in a recent air raid, caused no damage to the cathedral buildings or the archbishop's house.

Carol Has Million In Gold With Him

BUCHAREST, Sept. 20 (AP)—Rumanian government officials said today three wooden crates containing more than $1,000,000 worth of gold left the country on dedicated King Carol's special train.

The gold was said to be in coins minted last spring to commemorate the 10th anniversary of Carol's reign but never issued.

Turn Backward, O Time—And It Does on Wheels

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20 (AP)—Shades of the Gay Nineties! The census bureau reported today that bicycles produced in the United States last year numbered 1,232,028, or more than the previously recorded peak of 1,142,691 in 1899. The intervening low was 225,000 in 1921.

PAY BOOST FOR MINERS

LONDON, Sept. 20 (AP)—A general wage increase for miners effective Oct. 1 was announced today by the national executive committee of the Mineworkers' Federation.

3 Die in Crash At York, Me.

YORK, Me., Sept. 20 (AP)—Three Portsmouth Navy Yard workers were injured fatally today and two other men were hurt in the collision of an automobile and a truck.

The dead were Walter Cottrell of Saco, Albert Polaris of Biddeford and Adam A. Litwinowich of Biddeford.

All died in York Hospital. The accident occurred on the four-lane highway between York Corner and Cape Neddick.

William Roy of Biddeford, another Navy Yard employee, was in a serious condition in York Hospital with a broken arm and severe facial lacerations. Roy Y. Cram, 29, of Sanford, said by State Trooper George P. Beckett to have been the operator of the truck, was taken to Sanford Hospital, less seriously injured.

Lana Turner Blonde Now

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 20 (AP)—Folks have been looking at Lana Turner and "seeing red" for a long time. But no more.

Red has been Lana's favorite color since the day when, wearing a red dress, she was "discovered" eating at a lunch counter by a talent scout. There was her red hair, of course. And the red sweaters, which she wore extremely well. And her fire-engine red roadster. Her home decorations, stationery, ink—all were red.

Now it's changed. She's dyed her titian locks blonde. She drives a steel grey car. She's redecorating her apartment in bronze and gold.

Red unlucky? She won't say.

John Q. Public picks the leaders in this country—on sheer merit! That's why Bond's NUMBER ONE position speaks for itself. I could spin a long yarn about that smooth Rochester tailoring and distinguished style. I could tell you plenty about those rich New England woolens—and that extra pair of trousers for extra wear. Yes, and those 81 different sizes and models which make it so easy to get a perfect fit. But who am I to talk—when the men of America are saying it so much more powerfully with direct action! If Bond's can't help you "look like a million"—at a price that'll make you look twice in amazement—my name's 'Uncle Charley'.

1050 1st Year Men at Harvard

More than 1050 first year students converged on Memorial Hall at Harvard today, representing one of the largest Harvard freshman classes in recent years.

The six of the class has been increased to allow for any possible decrease in the student body due to army conscription, university officials explained.

The newcomers will be welcomed in a reception at the Harvard Union at 7:30 p. m., when Dean George H. Chase will preside. Upper classmen will register Monday.

Storm-Tossed Schooner Here

Her engine hurt, her main gaff carried away, a riding sail in ribbons and her hull battered and leaking, the Gloucester swordfishing schooner Olivia Brown limped into the Fish Pier here today after a narrow escape from foundering in last week-end's tropical hurricane.

Second vessel of her type to ride out the 100-mile-an-hour gale that missed New England, but roared northeastward over the Nova Scotia banks, the Olivia Brown reached Boston harbor amid on the heels of the swordfisherman Evelyn Sears, also battered by the hurricane.

The Olivia Brown's engineer, Manuel Maneda, was cut and bruised about the face and shoulders when he risked his life setting up a deck pump at the height of the blow.

He Thinks F. D. Answers Phone

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20 (AP)—A telephone rang in the White House press room.

"Is dis Doctah Adam's house?" someone inquired.

"No, this is the White House," replied the reporter who answered the phone.

"Oh!" said the caller with considerable confusion. "The White House! 'Scuse me, Mistah President!"

Bioff, Out of Jail, Rides Off in Style

CHICAGO, Sept. 20 (AP)—William Bioff, Hollywood movie labor leader, left the house of correction today after completing a six months' term for pandering imposed 18 years ago.

Dressed in a green double-breasted suit, he went through the release formalities, then strode out to his car, in which a chauffeur sat with the engine idling.

SHIP LINES TAXED

All available ships of the Eastern Steamship Lines have been called into service to transport crowds from New York and New Jersey during the week-end.

And among the attendants at the convention will be the governors from 29 states, as distant as Louisiana and Missouri, mayors of more than 100 cities of the nation, outstanding leaders in the national government, industrial chieftains and prominent professional men—all of them Legionnaires.

Beginning Sunday the governors, the mayors and many of the other notables will be guests of National Commander Raymond J. Kelly. Officially the convention will be opened Sunday by Commander Kelly at a solemn high pontifical mass in Holy Cross Cathedral, with Cardinal O'Connell, dean of the American hierarchy, presiding at the service.

CARDINAL TO WELCOME VETS

In behalf of the priests and parishioners of the archdiocese, the cardinal will extend welcome and greetings to the veterans. Then Legion chaplains will celebrate mass.

Following the Cathedral services, Commander Kelly, with his wife and six children, will visit for a short time with the cardinal.

In the afternoon, special religious services will be held in Tricent Temple under sponsorship of the George State Department.

Prominent Legionnaires will will speak at these services, including Governor Edward Rivers of Georgia. The championship Georgia State College band composed of 100 men will "go down" with a French music.

An evening program of musical services will be conducted at the Church Memorial on the Esplanade with tribute to departed comrades being paid.

Prayers for the preservation of peace in this nation and for the speedy restoration of peace overseas will be offered up at all these services.

One of the largest individual posts coming to Boston from Gotham will be the members of Phoebe Apperson Hearst Post, of New York, expected tomorrow night.

The New Yorkers dedicated the post in memory of Publius William Randolph Hearst's mother because of her outstanding civic achievements and philanthropic work. Mrs. Hearst was also one of the founders of the Patent Trolley's Association.

Besides the serious business matters concerning the legion and nation, to be discussed during the convention, visiting legionnaires, expect to have a real fun-fest in the Hub.

A program of entertainment starting Sunday afternoon and climaxing Thursday evening, which will keep the visitors on the hop day and night, has been arranged by the convention corporation.

Outdoor concerts by the famed Boston Symphony Orchestra, huge fireworks display in Charles River Basin, parades, clambakes, band concerts, musical competitions in Harvard Stadium, sight-seeing tours throughout historical Greater Boston, "Cavalcade of Stars" in National League Park, baseball and football games are among the many events listed.

WILLKIE STRESSES AVIATION

WILLKIE TRAIN EN ROUTE TO SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 20 (AP)—Wendell Willkie, Republican presidential nominee, stressed today the importance of American peacetime aviation into a major industry.

In a brief talk prepared for a train-made audience at Bakersfield, Cal., the Republican presidential nominee said:

"War planes? Yes, we must have them. We should have had them years ago. But great as is that need, the need of future peacetime aviation will be even greater.

"For it is the permanence of peacetime aviation—not the temporary emergency of preparedness—that will bring this nation into its rightful position of leadership in world aviation."

Willkie discussed this industry specifically as a follow up to his address last night in the half-century-lighted Los Angeles Coliseum, where he offered a cheering crowd four steps which he said would turn this country around from a "deficient system." He listed them as follows:

- "1.—The rules under which business is conducted must be clear and must be stable.
- "2.—Government policies affecting business should be consistent.
- "3.—Government competition with business must be kept within well-defined limits. It must not stop the flow of capital into new productive enterprise.
- "4.—Business must be given a chance to make a profit."

In addition, Willkie suggested that the Federal Reserve Commission take steps to ease the credit situation.

"This tax structure that the New Deal has erected," he said, "is unscientific, repressive, and loaded with punitive measures. It is unjust and discriminatory. It is driving capital out of productive employment."

50 Tons Confetti Greet Willkie

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 20 (AP)—Deputy City Engineer Herman P. Cortelyou estimates that grocers in downtown office buildings tossed 50 tons of confetti, streamers and assorted torn paper yesterday in welcoming presidential candidate Wendell Willkie.

"This is the largest amount of celebration debris we ever have had to handle after a parade," said Cortelyou.

ITALIANS BOMBED IN AFRICA

ROME, Sept. 20 (AP)—British leaders blamed the Italians with attacks scattered from the Libyan coast to Ethiopia and Somalia and while Italian airmen sank a British submarine, the Italian high command reported today.

Striking to prevent the Italians from consolidating themselves after their 60 mile advance into Egyptian territory, the British bombed areas about Derna, Benghazi and Tobruk in Libya, and Salami and Sidi Barrani, in Egypt, the high command's communique said. Other attacks were reported on Dardaniya, Gado, and Mogadishu in East Africa.

One dead and several wounded were the only casualties from the Egyptian and Libyan bombings, the communique said. Eight British planes were reported destroyed.

Duce, Nazis Plan To Cut Up Africa

ROME, Sept. 20 (AP)—Recent newspaper reports indicated that German and Italian foreign ministers and Italian leaders are discussing a plan to divide Africa with a view to Spain.

La Tribuna said Ribbentrop, Mussolini and Ciano were talking about "the future aspect of the African continent and the fate of those African peoples who will have been freed from British rule."

Foreign observers said there were indications the Axis powers were endeavoring to bring Spain into the war on their side with a part of French Morocco as a reward. British Gibraltar also has been mentioned as a possible prize for Spanish help.

This report lacked confirmation in official circles. However, the Fascist press, in dispatches from Berlin, spoke of Spain as a potential ally.

Hurricane Hit N. E. 2 Yrs. Ago

The most costly tropical hurricane in history struck New England two years ago tomorrow. The 140, 588 killed and missing, was not the highest on record for storm fatalities, but damages running nearly to $500,000,000 set a record.

PLAN TO REMIT TAX
At Worcester, Mass., Tax Commissioner Henry F. Long told a meeting of tax collectors he would ask the incoming Legislature for a law which in effect would remit real estate taxes of any shifted or undistributed.

Such freedom from taxes would not apply to past due assessments,
Long stated.

Meanwhile, the State Civil Service Commission was considering new action to protect public employees faced to lose their jobs for military service.

The nature of the action was not immediately disclosed, but it was stated that members of the legislature may be asked to conform with the ruling of Attorney General A. Dever, who stated a mere commission order was not sufficient to protect such jobs.

FUNDS FOR DEAFENS

At Washington the Senate began consideration of a House-endorsed $134,263,902 appropriation, under which Fort Devens will receive $1,500,000 for barracks and other buildings for 18,000 men.

The legislation also provides $1-million for hospital facilities including 1000 beds, at Fort Devens.

20 $1,640,000 FOR LOCAL DRAFT AID

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20 (AP)—Preliminary estimates indicated today that $1,640,000 a month would be distributed among local draft boards throughout the country for clerical help in the task of registering and selecting men for compulsory military service.

Along with other plans, financing arrangements for the vast draft effort went forward at full speed, in anticipation of a congressional grant of $2,000,000,000 and the President's order formally setting up a draft administration.

Selective service officials said each of 600 local boards would have at least one paid clerk. Additions for clerical help for the rest of this year were figured tentatively at 10 cents a month for each man registered. The Census Bureau estimated that 16,400,000 were in the draft age limits of 21 through 35.

NOT MADE FOR '41

Estimates have not been made for 1941 when the local boards will have completed their major task of registering and classifying the first big group of men.

While thousands of low draft board level jobs will be needed by the draft line, only a million men and women will be in the selective service system without pay.

All members of the local boards, their mothers, heads and business managers, at 10 cents a month, make a total of $1,640,000 a month.

In addition, it was estimated that more than 10,000 men and women officials, serving without pay, would be required to assist the draft effort.

With the exception of the local board clerks, who are expected to receive pay, the draft board office staffs will be paid only for their work in State and National draft offices, while the local board clerks will be paid.

11 - BOARD DECIDE

The board members will be paid 10 cents a month, but both men and women, both State and National, will be paid 10 cents a month.

France Stiffens Defiance Of Japs Indo Demand

HONGKONG, Sept. 20 (AP)—France was reported to be standing defiantly today in the face of a Japanese ultimatum calling upon Peking, Indo-China, to acquiesce within 72 hours to new, secret demands.

Official foreign quarters here said they had been informed Japan gave the French a ultimatum.

There was no authoritative indication of what the new demands comprised but informed sources in Hanoi, French Indo-China, and Japanese negotiators had suddenly shifted emphasis from the right of passage for 100,000 troops to a request for bases.

Many sources in Shanghai said that since the Chinese had destroyed the Hoang Hai-Yunnan railway, the Japanese seemed to have lost their desire to attempt an overland route to Yunnan province. Japanese negotiators had been told by the Chinese that the Chinese would not allow the Japanese to use the railway for military purposes. It was the Japanese ultimatum, however, closed by temporary agreement with the Chinese. The ultimatum was to be in force.

Japanese negotiators had also indicated that the Chinese would permit Japanese troops to pass through the Chinese territory to reach the Japanese mainland. The ultimatum was to be in force.

MILITIA ON WAY TO CAMPS

Last detachment of the 211th Coast Artillery, formerly Massachusetts First Corps Cadets, were on the road to Camp Edwards, Falmouth, this afternoon, when the first details of the 211st, C. A. C., moved into Eastern Harbor forts. Both National Guard elements were inducted in Federal service by presidential order Monday and are now embarked on the way of regular army service authorized by Congress.

The 211th has been moving out of the First Corps Cadets' camp in Arlington st. for the past four days and the last 50 officers and men left late today. Col. Stuart Chase is in command.

This regiment, an anti-aircraft unit, will spend the next month at Falmouth and then move south to Ft. Hulen, Texas, for the balance of its training period.

From the South Armory in Irvington st., the advance detail of 150 officers and men of the 241st set out in trucks for the eight forts that this regiment, also an anti-aircraft unit, will occupy for the next year, beginning Monday.

Regimental Supply Officer 1st Lieut. John E. Stone, was in command of the detail. To Deer Island went men of Battery A, under command of 2nd Lieut. John B. Connelly; to Fort Bucknam Battery C members, under command of 2nd Lieut. Whately L. Ackerd.

Fort Heath 2nd Lieut. James F. Cawley commanding; Battery A; Fort Stanish: 2nd Lieut. Roland R. Hatfield; Battery B; Fort Strong: 2nd Lieut. William Greenshaw; Battery L; Fort Warren: 2nd Lieut. Alfred F. August; Battery F; Fort Andrews: 2nd Lieut. Edward F. Fink; Battery D; Fort Revere: 2nd Lieut. Andrew M. Gordon; Battery E.

With the exception of Battery F, which is from Chelsea, and Battery L, from Fall River, members of all these detachments are Bostonians.

Massachusetts famous Yankee Division—the 26th—will not be called into federal service until at least, Jan. 1, it became known today.

Captain, Crew Saved, Ship Lost

MONCTON, N. B., Sept. 20 (INS)—The captain and the crew of the wrecked schooner Minas Prince were safe in port today after rescue by a freighter.

The three-masted auxiliary schooner, hit by the gale which swept the Maritime Provinces and the north Atlantic Monday, foundered for two days in storm-lashed waters before Capt. Murray Willgar gave the abandon ship order.

The Minas Prince was well-known in Boston, having for years carried lumber cargoes from the Maritime Provinces to this port. A few years ago the vessel stuck in the draw while passing through Neponset bridge, holding up railroad traffic on the Old Colony for several hours.—Editor's Note.

24 PHOTOGRAPH ON YOUR TRAIL WITH $10!

The man who will trade a $10 bill for the correct answer to his question was back on the streets again today looking for five takers.

Mr. Tom Gallagher, cameraman of the Boston American-Daily Record, and every day he gives away $50 for the right answers to his five questions.

His easiest task to date was when he dropped into the Radio Station WBZ sidewalk quiz and was allowed to ask persons in the crowd his $10 questions.

The $50 went like hot cakes. Winners were Mrs. Richard Weston of Summer st., Auburn, Mr. Ruth Woods of Thornton st., Roxbury; Sigmond J. Cohen of Commonwealth avenue, Brighton; James Lauricella of Temple st., Boston, and Rose Marie Connelly of West 7th st., South Boston.

Priest's Plea Saves Thief From Jail

A priest's plea in his behalf saved a confessed Roxbury church pool box thief from a jail commitment in Roxbury court today.

The defendant, Joseph Gallagher, 32, of Gay Head st., Jamaica Plain, pleaded guilty to larceny of $5 from a pool box in Mission Church, Roxbury. Rev. John J. Keegan of Mission Church asked Judge Crehan to give Gallagher another chance, for the sake of his wife and four children.

2 BUS STRIKES IN N. Y.

NEW YORK, Sept. 20 (AP)—Thousands of commuters were late reaching their jobs today as the result of two abruptly-called, but apparently unrelated strikes on bus systems serving Queens Borough, near by Rockland County and New Jersey.

200 Nazi Bombers Routed in Disorder

ritory, the air ministry announced.

Resuming daylight raids, nine German planes roared through the clouds over the London area, but dropped only two bombs. Additional raids appeared simultaneously over a southeast inland town.

Later rooftop observers heard the drone of planes over the capital, but they were flying too high to tell whether they were British or German.

One explosion was heard during the morning in London but it may have been a time bomb dropped in last night's raids, described officially, as "on a smaller scale and less effective than of late."

OTHER CITIES BLASTED

London sp. in was the main objective of the night attacks, but bombs also were dumped in Lancashire, Essex, Surrey, Berkshire, Kent, the Midlands and southwest England.

A formation of dive bombers capped the night attacks with a violent assault on the northwest and east sectors of London just before dawn.

One German raider brought down by anti-aircraft fire over southwest London crashed into the side of a house 50 yards from a hospital at Merton Park.

Its wing tips damaged four houses before it struck the factory, exploding with such force that the building was demolished.

People in nearby air raid shelters were endangered by the spreading flames but escaped.

Some fatalities were caused when a bomb hit an escape hatch of a public shelter in a north London park. The First Aid also suffered some casualties.

HITS IN 2 STREETS

Damage in central London was less than on previous nights although a few incendiary bombs were dropped.

High explosive bombs made direct hits in two streets. In one a jeweler's shop and many apartments were demolished. People in a basement shelter of one wrecked building were rescued without harm.

One man was killed and many persons were injured in another street. A gas attack did not occur, although a gas alarm was briefly sounded.

Although a gas alarm was sounded in the southwest a few feet from the West End process, the shops were closed as usual, and the staff sweeping up scattered glass and the other half serving customers.

Lord Beaverbrook, Minister for Aircraft Production; Sir John Anderson, Minister of Home Security; and Lord Ashfield, Chairman of London Transport, last night inspected the Holborn underground station, where thousands of East Enders have been taking shelter nightly.

Thick low-hanging clouds and a heavy anti-aircraft barrage lessened the views of Nazi raiders until after midnight, when the moon broke through to light the way for the dive bombers.

By comparison with previous nights, the raid was considered fairly light.

A rainstorm swept the Straits of Dover, pathway for a threatened German invasion, during the night and a southeast gale lashed the sea against Dover's chalk cliffs, but the wind subsided this morning.

The sea was reported calmer and visibility was clear, especially during sunny intervals.

ALL COAST AFLAME

Despite the storm, RAF fliers bombed "invasion ports" for two to three hours, renewing the heavy blows they delivered yesterday at such points as Le Havre, Calais and Boulogne.

Watchers at Dover reported that for a time the entire coastal area from Calais to Boulogne appeared to be a huge sheet of flame.

Some observers have predicted Adolf Hitler might attempt an invasion before the autumn.

equinox—next Sunday night—which usually signals fall storms that would increase the difficulties of transporting troops across the channel.—Editor's Note.

The thick weather apparently forced German raiders to take a new course in their "reprisal" bludgeoning of London. They approached the city over the northwest section to strike at widely scattered parts of the metropolis.

Yugoslavia Opens Drive on Jews

BELGRADE, Sept. 20 (AP)—Jewish merchants and firms financed by Jewish capital henceforth will be forbidden to trade in foodstuffs, according to the first of a series of regulations restricting Jewish participation in the economic life of Yugoslavia. CENSUS ESTIMATES PLACE U. S. POPULATION AT 132,000,000

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20 (AP)—The population center of the United States has moved eastward for the first time in history, preliminary census figures indicated today. Experts said it would be several months before the exact location could be fixed but as far as they could tell from early figures found almost every state in the Union.

the center would be several miles southeast of its 1910 location, which was 29 miles northeast of Linton, Ind. They based their calculations primarily on the fact that while the total population of the United States apparently ranged between 7 and 8 per cent, the South Atlantic States gained 12.5 per cent.

The Census Bureau already has compiled preliminary 1940 population totals for every state and for the nation, but is guarding the figures for the last six states and the nation with unusual secrecy until their scheduled release this weekend. Meanwhile, the most informed estimates place the national total at approximately 132,000,000 or about 7.5 per cent above the 122,750,000 count in 1930.

As indicated by the possible eastward movement of the population center, the 1940 census is expected to show more important changes in the distribution of population than in 1930.

FRANCE TO RATION ALL FOODS

VICHY, France, Sept. 20 (AP)—All main food items will be rationed in both the occupied and unoccupied zones of France beginning Sept. 23 under severe new restrictions announced here today.

Henceforth each Frenchman will be allowed the following rations:

Meat, 360 grams (about 12.7 ounces) a week; cheese, 50 grams (about 1.8 ounces) a week; bread, 350 grams (about 12.4 ounces) a day; sugar, 500 grams (about 17.6 ounces) a month; rice, 100 grams (about 3.5 ounces) a month; soap, 125 grams (about 4.4 ounces) a month.

A corps of 10,000 agents will be created to make certain rationing regulations are enforced. Tickets for all rationed foods in restaurants start Sept. 30.

An official statement said, "The consequences of the war and our defeat appear now in all their tragic reality."

The causes listed for the present severe shortage included destruction and deterioration of harvests and livestock in the war zone. Milk production dropped "to an enormous extent" and in certain places epidemic fever spread among farm animals. There also was a poor harvest of cereals in the unoccupied zone, it was said, and the British blockade prevents imports to take up the slack.

Straws in the Political Winds

(Provided by the Democratic National Committee)

Since the unfortunate blunder of the Literary Digest in predicting the 1936 election outcome, the public has shown a wholesome skepticism in mock polls and straw votes which profess to give an accurate forecast of election results. You recall how the final Digest tabulation foretold a sweep for Landon just a few days before the Kansas Governor went down to the worst defeat in modern Presidential elections.

Based on past performances, the Digest editors probably felt that they were justified in standing pat on the results of their survey because they had been highly accurate in the three preceding national elections. But the sampling method went wrong somewhere along the line and the Digest paid the penalty.

One or two other national polls, highly regarded before that time, suffered the same unhappy fate in 1936. The experience of four years ago suggests that guessing the attitude of the electorate in a frame of the polling is a pleasant pastime which has no more validity than reading the stars, crystal gazing, or counting tea leaves.

Veteran political workers, long experienced in observing election trends and tides, have always been suspicious of "amateur" vote-testing. Yet guessing the outcome of a national election has a sporting element about it which appeals to the American people.

The magazine Fortune has been conducting polls at regular intervals over the course of the past several years and as a rule its forecasts have been extremely accurate. The most recent poll, the results of which were announced a few days ago by the editors, showed 54.2 per cent for Roosevelt and 35.6 per cent for Wilkie. This left about 12 per cent still undecided but without that margin the majority for the President was still fairly substantial.

WHAT THE STRAWS SHOW

The latest report of the Gallup poll, which seems to occupy the niche formerly reserved for the Literary Digest in popular attention, showed Roosevelt leading Wilkie in the three key States of New York, Pennsylvania, and New Jersey. They account for almost one-fifth of the entire electoral college. On the day this report was published, Joe Martin, Republican chairman, found the Wilkie "tide" rising fast. Another Gallup summary, recently announced, showed Wilkie strength falling off in four border States with a slight increase in one.

The most interesting survey, however, was dug out of the pages of The Republican, official organ of the Young Republican National Federation, which carries an article tipping off its readers on how to place their election wagers. The author advised his readers that Wilkie was a "cinch hat" in only ten States with a total of 87 electoral votes. He warned prospective gamblers not to back Wilkie in 14 States with 141 electoral votes, to ask "long odds" in nine States with 67 electoral votes, and to ask odds in six additional States with 45 votes. In other words, although 266 votes are needed to win, he was doubtful, or had given up, on 253 electoral votes.

These surveys are reviewed for whatever worth the readers wish to attach to them. On the whole, they suggest that Republican leaders are talking down the wind when they speak of breaking up the Solid South or the Border States. The young Republicans include Texas, with 23 votes, in the States which are certain to go for the Democratic ticket.

RECALLING WILL ROGERS

On his current campaign tour, Wilkie stopped at Claremore, Oklahoma, the home town of the late Will Rogers, America's beloved humorist. "In some respects," said the nominee during his visit, "I would rather talk to Democrats than Republicans." The leaders of the G. O. P. have long suspected this painful fact.

Wendell might have recalled the famous lines spoken by Will Rogers himself:

"To be for Roosevelt, you need only know who his enemies are."

Hank Wallace Goes To the Showers?

By CARLISLE BARGERON

(Assigned by Republican National Committee)

Clare Boothe, the playwright and war reporter, relates in the forthcoming second edition of her book, "Europe in the Spring," what a Big Shot Bill Bullitt was in France in the weeks preceding the war. She relates how Capt. de Chambrun, after escaping from Dunkirk, hastened to Bullitt and Bullitt then hastened to Weygand, the French army generalissimo. Miss Boothe then explains: "For those who are astonished that Ambassador Bullitt had such instant access and influence with the military as well as government high command, it must be stated now that it was often said, and not jokingly, in the Spring in France, that Bullitt was His Grey Eminence, the most powerful man in France."

When Henry Wallace delivered his acceptance speech several weeks ago, Mr. Roosevelt warmly congratulated him and told him he was getting off to a splendid start. Henry replied that it was an inspiration to work for one so appreciative as Mr. Roosevelt.

Now, we would give a pretty penny to know what Mr. Roosevelt actually said to him when the two met in conference at the funeral down in Alabama of Speaker Bankhead. Mr. Roosevelt had ordered him to cancel his speaking engagements and "come to the funeral."

You wouldn't think that political matters are discussed on such occasions, but you don't know your New Dealers. Their bickerings going on coming on Joe Robinson's funeral train at the height of the Supreme Court fight were shocking even to hard-boiled news paper men.

As the minutes of the conference at Joe Bankhead's funeral, Henry has not to change his mind. He started off like a house afire, running up and down the Middle West, saying that the Republicans were appeasers. The campaign is Roosevelt versus Hitler, he exclaimed. This is what moved Mr. Roosevelt, and we are pretty sure, Mrs. Roosevelt, too, recently with him that speed.

But Henry has got Mr. Roosevelt into a little mess. He provoked Mr. Wilkie, who has been over awkward not to only mess Mr. Roosevelt in his foreign relationships, to recall that at the celebrated conference at Munich—the APPEASEMENT conference—Mr. Roosevelt was right in the pitch. The New Dealers' contention now is that Mr. Roosevelt was doing a very laudable thing in trying to maintain peace.

Arthur Krook of the New York Times, recalls that the New Dealers were bragging all over the place at the time about how Mr. Roosevelt had brought the Munich peace about. They exaggerated his part in the negotiations so anxious were they to lay the credit. The Congress and country of 1938 were coming up.

Mr. Krook also reprints what he wrote at that time. He predicted that the claims of the New Dealers would come back to haunt them. THEY HAVE.

Everyone who has closely followed the happenings in Europe the past few years, agrees that NOT IN ALL THE HISTORY OF MANKIND HAVE THE AFFAIRS OF HUMAN BEINGS BEEN SO MISHANDLED AS THEY HAVE BEEN BY THE OPPONENTS OF HITLER.

IT IS AGREED ON ALL SIDES THAT IF HITLER WAS TO BE CHALLENGED THE PLACE TO DO IT WAS IN CZECHO-SLOVAKIA. The country had natural barriers, it had an efficient military establishment, it had one of the largest munitions works in the world. It was accessible to France and Britain for the extension of aid.

But instead of the challenge, there was wrought the famous Munich Pact, the bringing about of which Mr. Roosevelt certainly had a part—far which, at the time, the New Dealers wanted to take all of the credit. This was when the word APPEASEMENT came into every day use.

Then, after this appeasement, when Hitler was leading his tanks toward Russia, these same World Leaders, including Mr. Roosevelt, decided to become belligerent, WHEN THEY'VE GOT NOTHING TO BECOME BELLIGERENT WITH. It is as if they were afraid Hitler would run into and hurt that fellow-Democrat, Stalin. Anyway, they wouldn't let him continue on to the East. They had to turn him around, and bring him West. Bring him West when their defenses were like tissue paper.

They've certainly made a mess of things—these World Leaders have. And Henry has made a mess of the New Deal's Indispensable Man campaign by provoking Mr. Wilkie to bring the matter up.

But Mr. Roosevelt can't rightfully blame Henry. He was doing only what Mr. Roosevelt told him to do.

"I'll fix it all by myself."

THE FIRST STEP in a democracy of any one who aspires to "indispensability" or dictatorship is to get rid of Constitutional obstacles.

In the United States the "obstacle" to this dictatorship is CONGRESS.

So long as Congress is the incarnate will of the people and stands on its Constitutional rights a President is powerless to govern by proclamation or ukase.

Because of this vital necessity—never more vital than at this moment in the history of the Republic—the people of this country should see that a Congress is elected in November that will guard against any further incursions into its prerogatives.

NEW DEALERS CORCORAN AND COHEN CONFER
"A Kind of Political Super-Congress of Two"

The Constitution says that "ALL legislative powers shall be vested in a Congress of the United States."

A great many of the New Deal laws in the last seven years have originated in the White House, or, worse yet, in the offices of Corcoran & Cohen, sometimes a kind of political super-Congress of two.

Under "Powers of Congress," the Constitution says that "Congress shall have power to regulate commerce with foreign nations."

For the past few years, Secretary of State Hull has done the "regulation." There is nothing about "delegated rights" in these plainly defined powers.

IN REGARD TO MONEY, the Constitution gives Congress alone the right to "regulate the value thereof."

President Roosevelt arbitrarily cut the value of the gold dollar to 59 cents.

Congress alone has the power to declare war under the Constitution.

While President Roosevelt has not yet actually declared war, he has done everything possible to cause three foreign countries (Germany, Italy and Japan) TO DECLARE WAR ON US.

The Constitution gives the President the power to conclude treaties "by and with the advice and consent of the Senate."

President Roosevelt has made "agreements" (a slight-of-hand word for "treaties") with Canada and Great Britain, not to speak of a score of trade treaties, without the consent, or even the knowledge, of Congress.

That's a pointer as to which way the country is headed.

FURTHER PROOF of Executive contempt for Congress abounds.

On June 4 the President advised Congress to adjourn, remarking that its continued sitting would only result in "speeches." Congress (suddenly finding its spine) refused.

Since the Presidential order to adjourn, Congress has authorized the construction of a Two-Ocean Navy, passed an Alien Regulation law, the second Hatch Act, the National Guard Mobilization Bill, made a re-statement of the Monroe Doctrine and laid out defense appropriations of $15,000,000,000.

It has done many other things strictly within its province since the GREAT INDISPENSABLE told it to get off the lot.

This is all food for IMMEDIATE thought by the American people.

The Congress to be elected in November will be the most important ever to meet in Washington.

It will either be a rubber-stamp or an iron fist.

It should be aggressively INDEPENDENT.

It should be CONSTITUTION-MINDED—to the letter.

It should be a PEOPLE'S CONGRESS.

The CENTER of the Republic is under the dome of the Capitol, not behind the facade of the White House.

It must be kept there if this is to continue a FREE DEMOCRACY.

On The Side

THE NAZIS spent $47,000,000—600 in war preparations. Don't ask me where they got it . . . Certainly is a lot being written about clothes models these days. Why don't they teach those models to look more like human beings and less like fugitives from a wax works show? A good simile would be: "As self-conscious as a clothes model" . . . A new invention has to do with suspending rear wheels on automobiles designed to make the car ride easier. Why don't they make an adjustment in the wheel mechanism that would enable motorists to run their cars sideways when parking? It probably could be done . . . Charles M. Lincoln suggests British revise it to: "God save the King—and Winston Churchill."

DESK MOTTO: "Any good thing I can do, or any kindness I can show any human being let me do it now. Let me not defer or neglect it. For I shall not pass this way again—Gretel" . . . Continuing the discussion as to the value in business of names that stick in people's memories, there's C. C. C. Tatum, Los Angeles real estate man. His three similar initials do the trick. They stand for Clifford Charleville Constantine. Some business man should use A. B. C. for initials. A name such as A. B. C. Devin would be hard to forget . . . Note a woman is described as "looking 16 though in reality she is 32 years old." That certainly is a good trick if you can do it . . . Paris has fallen to an enemy six times and has always made a comeback. Julius Caesar was the first to take Paris. One time the English and Germans as allies occupied Paris. The present occupation of Paris is the third for the Germans.

BETTE DAVIS, VERSATILE AND BEAUTIFUL
Could Hedy LaMarr or Myrna Loy Play Her Roles?

VIRGINIA FAULKNER'S character "Susie" seems destined to furnish as much hilarity as the heroine of "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes" by Anita Loos. Susie says her boy friend prefers Hedy La Marr and Myrna Loy, but she likes Bette Davis and adds: "I would just like to see Hedy La Marr or Myrna Loy in half the situations Bette Davis portrays, such as going mad or having a brain tumor" . . . Headline says: "British cartoonists gild the life of German propaganda." The mistake in this headline is often made, but that is the first time I ever saw it made by a copy desk. Mr. Shakespeare, of course, said: "To gild refined gold, to paint the lily."

MY DAY

NEW YORK CITY, Sept. 20—Wednesday night we attended the concert at Carnegie Hall, conducted by Leopold Stokowski, in which the all-American Youth Orchestra gave a program of Bach which was completely enchanting. It was so beautifully conducted and played, that I felt as though I were hearing this music for the first time.

The second half of the program, Symphony Number Five, by Shostakovich, I had never heard before, and because it was unfamiliar, I enjoyed certain parts more than I did others. But taken all in all, it was an unforgettable evening, and one in which you were proud of the achievements of young America in music.

They say no young country can produce great artists or great musicians. Then we must be growing up, for we did hear a great all-American symphony orchestra Wednesday night.

Wednesday morning I spent two-and-a-half hours in Washington with the National Recreation and Educational Council.

They called upon all government agencies touching the fields of education and recreation, to give a report on their work in order that the private agencies might better understand how all facilities could be integrated for the good of the people.

IT IS A good thing that we are seeking normal outlets for recreation for young and old.

I think it is also a good sign that we are coming to consider education and recreation as being closely bound together. We need to go one step further and realize that there is much to be done in the field of recreation which will develop our responsibilities as citizens.

We talk so much of how to develop patriotism, and it seems to me fairly obvious that patriotism comes through a devotion to a way of life. That way of life may be lived in a rural area, in a city or in a small town.

ROOSEVELT SON ENDS SONG CAREER

By Leonard Lyons

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—The 60 children who lived at the Actors' Orphanage in London now are on the high seas en route to America . . . Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., whose name is listed as a BMI song writer—because of the one song he has written—stated that his song writing career is over . . . If the BMI-ASCAP fight isn't settled before New Year's eve, it will mean that no radio station that evening will be permitted to broadcast the singing of "Hail, Hail, the Gang's All Here"—because the lyrics are copyrighted by an ASCAP member . . . Danielle Darrieux escaped from France and now is in Lisbon. She'll be here next week.

ERROR: John Gunther, who left for his "Inside South America" trip a few days ago, made his farewells with Whit Burnett, the magazine editor, who was at Gunther's side when the author had left for Europe to write "Inside Europe" and the Orient to write "Inside Asia." Burnett had just finished reading the issue of a style magazine, in which Frances Gunther wrote a glowing article about her husband called "Inside Gunther." . . . "I read that piece carefully," said Burnett, "and I noticed some discrepancies. If you saw the manuscript, why didn't you correct them?" . . . "I saw the manuscript, but I didn't correct them because Frances and I believe in freedom of the press," Gunther confessed. "And, besides—I liked them."

TRIUMPH: One of the prize ambitions of many young men in America is to possess the private telephone number of Hedy LaMarr. Realization of that ambition came to Lou Minding of the Music Corp. of America. He went to Hollywood last month on a business mission, met Miss LaMarr at a party and secured her private phone number . . . Triumphant, he returned to N. Y. and boasted of this accomplishment to all his unmarried friends. But it aroused no envy—only disbelief. None of them will believe that Minding really has Hedy's phone number—and the defiant Lou refused to waste $5 in a phone call which would prove his assertion.

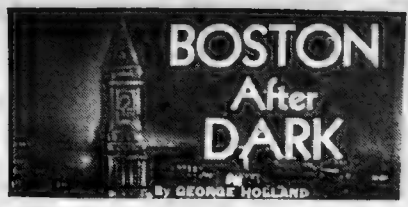

NEWS: Vivien Leigh tells the story of how—after their secret wedding, at which the attendants had only two hours' notice, every arrangement, including the switching of cars to evade any possible prauers, was made to assure absolute secrecy—Laurence Olivier turned on the radio and listened to the news broadcast. The program contained only that news which concerned the war and the Presidential campaign . . . The next day Olivier tuned in again—and again he heard nothing except news about Europe, Roosevelt and Willkie. He tried a third broadcast and again the news was confined to war and election . . . The groom, who had so successfully arranged the secrecy they craved, switched off the radio and muttered: "Why don't they give REAL news?"

ENTERPRISE: Only one radio company in America broadcasts all the addresses of Pres. Roosevelt and Wendell Willkie whether or not either political party pays for the radio time. "I don't care if those speeches are paid for or not," the head of that radio company stated in the Stork Club, "but as far as my stations are concerned I'm going to be fair to both sides. Anything that the President or Willkie has to say will be broadcast over the Texas Networks" . . . The speaker was Elliott Roosevelt.

CONFLICT: Quentin Reynolds, war correspondent in London, will remain in that city despite all danger—for Reynolds is a true newspaper man. In addition, he never was one to turn from a fight. Quent was intercollegiate heavyweight champ, and has had his share of night club fights . . . Once, in Dan Healy's Broadway Room, he was accompanied by James Cannon, who is much shorter but weighs almost as much as the 200-pound Reynolds. A fight ensued, in which they opposed four husky strangers—who were flattened. Quent thereafter was credited with the four kayos, despite Cannon's insistence that he too had participated. The credit problem was solved when one of the victims sued Cannon for assault. Jimmy settled the suit quickly and gleefully, prising his canceled payment check as proof that he had participated in that fight.

DANIELLE DARRIEUX

BOSTON After DARK

By GEORGE HOLLAND

THE VANGUARD OF THE AMERICAN LEGION'S army of conventioners established a bridgehead to the local Rialto three full nights ahead of the impending occupation of the city . . . Legion uniforms were spotted easily in the middle of the mufli worn by the hometown ringsiders at the New Southland (which opened spectacularly), at the Latin Quarter, the Mayfair, the Cocoanut Grove and amid the fluttering fans of the tropical Beachcomber.

THE LATIN QUARTER'S SELL-OUT PREMIERE of Wednesday was fresh history when the phenomenon was repeated last night at the New Southland . . . The show is headed by the Honey Family, with the melodic support of lovely Janet Carroll—who has burst forth with two new songs after an entire year of yielding to requests that made it unwise to "change her act" . . . With the consequential assistance of a smooth, uncorny emcee in young Harry Spears, and with a minimum of "schmaiz" either on a bandstand occupied alternately by Joe "Love Pyles" Candullo, and Anthony Bruno or from elements of a fast-moving show well able to tell the Quarter's new mood of "dignity," Lou Walters maintains his reputation as a sagacious showman . . . This spot gill be a Legionnaire's delight.

INCIDENTALLY, THE STAFF at the Latin Quarter has been indulging in some sly chuckles at a simile in this space which described Mr. Walters as being "as muscular as a trumpet" . . . To Mr. Walters' credit, be it mentioned that he himself smiled urbanely at the crack, although he might have been excused at least one scornful, if colloquial, retort: "Listen to who's talking!" . . . Your reporter is certainly not the one to gibe about anyone's disparity with Sandow, or even Mr. Atlas . . . Your reporter was, in fact, the inspiration of one of Jack White's historic insults . . . We are referring to the occasion long ago when our entrance into Jack's Club "No. 18" (18 W. 52nd Street), precipitated a screech from Mr. White: "Has anybody got a quart of blood?"

WHICH LEADS US TO A CITATION of the aforementioned Harry Spears, a lad who writes his own stuff, and Mr. Spears' lapse into mortal lise majeste by describing his present employer, Mr. Walters, as "a cross between a tired anchovy and a broken umbrella" . . . (Note: Mr. Walters continues to coin money wherever he goes) . . . To finish with him for the nonce, Mr. Walters and a covey of his fellow-operators of gay-spots (including Mickey Redstone of the Mayfair, Izzy Ori of El Tropico, or Ori's, Joe Nardone of The Hurricane, Tom Maren of The Beachcomber, Ben Ford of the Tic Toc, Jack Brown, the Junior, of Casa Manana, Harry Marchand of the chain-bands) were at the New Southland, sizing up the new competition.

THEY SHOULD HAVE BEEN PLEASED at what they saw, if the theory that bit shows stimulate business throughout the district is a sound one . . . The Southland's opening show is the best all-colored revue yet revealed to a Boston nightclub audience . . . The amazing Five Crackerjacks are all over the elevated stage which doubles as a dance floor, with velvet tanks around the edges to hold dancers in place.

ONE OF THEM is perhaps the only tumbler in the world able to perform the prodigious feat of turning four back somersaults without touching his hands to the ground . . . A handsome lass introduced as a "sepia Mae West"—and what has become of our Mae?—is good, but two mimes who do a beachcomber's turn, the man with a whip and the gal with a beautiful form and a convincing simulation of horror are marvellous . . . The chorus is worthy of the New York Cotton Club in its heyday.

GEORGE JESSEL and his all-feminine supporting cast of starlets, including Elissa Landi, is coming to Keith's Boston within a few weeks, a New York scout reports . . . Miss Landi is not categorically a starlet, unless she is willing to chalk off her past in Hollywood as merely a novitiate.

BARBARA STANWYCK GETS FILM LEAD

By Louella O. Parsons Barbara Stanwyck

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—Paulette Goddard is out and Barbara Stanwyck is in—in Preston Sturges, next, "Lady Eve." This means that after much pleading, Paulette had her way about taking a real vacation with Charlie Chaplin. The Goddard girl has worked as hard as any femme star in Hollywood the last six months, which is probably one of the reasons Para talented and permitted her to plan a two or three months trip.

But perhaps the most important reason for their generosity is that they could get Barbara Stanwyck for Paulette's spot. With the Frank Capra picture "Meet John Doe" coming up Barbara should be one of the most sought-after girls in Hollywood. Nobody ever works in a Capra picture whose stock doesn't boom. So with Henry Fonda already signed, sealed and all but delivered from 20th Century-Fox for this opus, it really gives Sturges two topnotchers for his cast. Didn't I tell you he was rapidly becoming the favored boy among the picture-makers?

JOAN CRAWFORD

MAYBE YOU THINK M-G-M hasn't been watching the box office on "Susan and God"—even to the third-run house. Joan Crawford made such a hit with the fans as a sophisticated comedienne that today they bought an out-and-out farce for La Crawford, "She Was His Boss." I've always said the fans liked Joan dressed to the hilt and wearing the latest fashions and this new yarn will certainly give her a chance to wear clothes. She'll play the swank manager of a department store who is assigned an assistant who (supposedly) has only six months to live. It hasn't been decided whether "A Woman's Face" or "She Was His Boss" will be Crawford's next when she returns to Hollywood. By the way, I haven't seen her in any of the night spots since we've been here—so maybe it's true she's living the simple life and going to bed at 10 p. m.

RAN INTO Adolphe Menjou at "21." He was laughing over a fan letter he received asking why he didn't put his moustache in cement at Grauman's Chinese. "You're a Pioneer," said the letter, "and why shouldn't you be immortalized there? If John Barrymore can have his profile in cement—then why not your moustache?" Adolphe was very excited over the possibility of going into the new Preston Sturges picture "Lady Eve." Verre Teasdale, who is here with Adolphe, goes into Hedy LaMarr's "Come Live With Me," so the Menjous will be taking off for the coast in a few days.

SNAPSHOTS OF NEW YORK AND HOLLYWOOD: Saw Jimmy Stewart lunching at "21" yesterday with a couple of Princeton classmates, Joshua Logan and John Swope. I was also lunching with a Princeton man—young Jack Williams of the Newell Emmett Advertising company; talked with Richard Barthelmess and Jack Barry who were lunching at "21"; a committee from Yale University called on me to tell me the motion pictures based on college life are all wrong—but it's a long story and I'll have more to tell about it later.

THE EDDIE ROBINSONS are here taking in all the show. Eddie is to be guest of honor at the American Druggists Convention at which "Dispatch From Reuters" will be previewed. Then he and Gladys go to White Sulphur Springs for a holiday; Elsa Lanchester and Charles Laughton are completely surrounded by fans every time they step out of their hotel; had dinner with Mary and William Curley and later Jack Dempsey joined us. Jack's children, Joan and Barbara, live right next door to him and he says Jack's whole life is centered around those children. Little Joan broke her leg recently but it wasn't a serious fracture. He feels very badly about his marital breakup.

WENT TO the races and saw Jimmie Ritz and many other Hollywood movie people; you'd be surprised who Pat Morison's new heartbeats is—and I mean really surprised; Orin Tucker, Bonnie Baker and Gene Markey were a three-some at Ciro's; hear Louis B. Mayer, who loves the horses, has been watching the nags run at the Pomona Fair.

8 In Family Fete Sept. 19 Marriages

There isn't a chance for the husbands of the Wentworth family of Waltham and Natick to be forgetful on their marriage anniversaries, when tradition decrees presents for the missus.

For, eight members of the family all were wed on Sept. 19. Following the example of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick C. Lyman, married 46 years ago, the Waltham couple's three sons and their wives also picked the same date for their nuptials.

J. Aiden Wentworth of Natick was married 19 years ago; Russell Porter Wentworth 15 years ago, and Paul Dexter Wentworth six years ago.

MARRIED at St. Aiden's Church, Brookline, Anthony LaCamera, Boston Sunday Advertiser staff writer, and his bride, the former Elizabeth Minola of Brighton, are pictured after the ceremony. Rev. John Fogarty, S. J., of Weston, former Boston College classmate of LaCamera, officiated.

With Dr. Benjamin W. Block of Oakland, Cal., installed as their new president, the members prepared to leave for their homes, or remain a few days longer to take in the Legion show.

Sound in emergency case, at least 60,000 civilian hospitals are available for use in the federal government, Dr. Claude W. Munger of New York told delegates.

Dr. Munger, chairman of the AHA council on government relations, told of a recently completed survey which was presented to the U. S. surgeon-general.

The AHA, he said, was ready to assume leadership together with Catholic and Protestant hospitals in working with the federal government to meet any and all requirements.

The QUIZZICAL CAMERA MAN

Every day the Quizzical Camera Man trots around Boston armed with five different questions. He asks each question of as many people as necessary until he gets the right answer. To each person answering a question correctly he hands out a crisp new ten-dollar bill. Maybe he'll be in your neighborhood tomorrow. He gives away

$50.00 EVERY DAY!

Question No. 1—Who cried: "Give me Liberty or give me death?"

Suggested Answers:

- (a) Paul Revere (c) Nathan Hale
(b) Patrick Henry (d) Thomas Jefferson

D. W. Dunn

Your cameraman popped this question on the corner of Tremont and Stuart Sts. D. W. Dunn of Union St., Everett, a salesmanager, was the first person to approach and he checked "B" which is the correct answer. His reward was a new ten spot.

Mary F. Keenan

Question No. 2—How often is the official United States Census taken?

Suggested Answers:

- (a) Every five years (d) Every twenty-five years
(b) Every ten years
(c) Every twenty years

It was on Tremont St. near Bayview St. Quincy, checked answer "B" and she was absolutely correct. She also went home with a crisp new ten dollar bill for giving the correct answer.

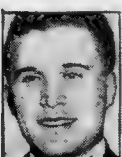

Mary Nelson

Question No. 3—What soap advertises: "Keep that schoolgirl complexion?"

Suggested Answers:

- (a) Ivory (c) Palmolive
(b) Woodbury (d) Camay

This question was asked of four passersby on Avery St. The first three persons checked "D" but of course they were wrong. However, Mary Nelson of Slayton St., Melrose, a college student, came along and picked the right one which is "C," for ten dollars.

Sigmund Fritz

Question No. 4—How many matches are there in an ordinary book of matches?

Suggested Answers:

- (a) 14 (c) 25
(b) 20 (d) 32

This question proved an easy one for Sigmund Fritz of Austin Park, Cambridge, who is employed as a weather report observer. He was the first person approached on the question on Tremont St. and he quickly checked "B" which is the only answer. His ten dollar prize left me with only ten dollars to give away.

Arthur J. Gosselin

Question No. 5—Who recently won the National Tennis Championship at Forest Hills?

Suggested Answers:

- (a) William T. Tilden (c) Donald McNeil
(b) Bobby Riggs (d) Donald Budge

On the corner of Washington St. and Essex, this question was a sticker. No less than seven persons failed before Arthur J. Gosselin of Gates Rd., Saugus, checked the right answer which is "C." He was the final ten dollar winner for the day.

GALLAGHER PREPARES CAMPAIGN

Definitely assured of victory and announcement of official returns, former State Sen. Owen A. Gallagher of Dorchester today prepared his final campaign for the lieutenant-governorship amid a haze of congratulatory messages.

At 7:30 p. m. today, Gallagher was Mayor John C. Carr of Medford, Gallagher's opponent in the close, bitter fight for the Democratic nomination.

Carr, declaring he would not seek a second term, had full support as official returns showed Gallagher with a total of 122,701 votes and Carr with 121,053, giving Gallagher a plurality of 1,648.

Gallagher, carrying 29 of Boston's 22 wards, rolled up a nearly 24 vote over Carr in the city.

Atty. Gen. Paul A. Dever garnered 21,144 votes against 17,890 for former Lieut. Gov. Francis E. Kely in the Democratic gubernatorial fight, according to the official city computations made known today.

Buckley Refuses Bid To Step Out of Race

Promising an intensive state-wide campaign and an administration which will benefit every family in the state, mysterious Thomas J. Buckley was back in seclusion today for what he termed a "much needed rest."

Democratic State Committeemen, however, were busy grappling with the problem of fitting their unknown auditor nominee into the party slate for the November elections.

DEFENDS CAMPAIGN

Chairman William H. Burke of the committee was reported as urging Buckley to yield his place on the ticket, and receiving a chuffy answer from the man nobody knows.

First glimpse of the slim, bespectacled little man with thinning grey hair was gained when he arrived late for his interview with Chairman Burke at committee headquarters.

His first public statement was a vigorous denial his victory was due to the similarity of his name and that of Thomas H. Buckley of Abington, former State Auditor and heavy vote getter.

"My platform and the confidence of the people in my pledged words is what brought the votes for me," he declared.

GO ON RADIO

He had informed reporters that he was under a doctor's care, but when asked whether his physical condition might cause him to withdraw, he said:

"After a period of rest ordered by my doctor, I will take to the radio to tell the public the importance of having the office of state auditor in the hands of a Democrat who will by his ability and experience administer the office in a manner which will benefit every family in the state."

It was shortly after 3 p. m. when the "Man of Mystery" made his appearance at the office of Chairman William H. Burke, Jr., at Democratic state committee headquarters. He was accompanied by his brother, Patrolman William Buckley, of the Joy st. station, and

HUB HOUSEWIVES CHEERED BY LOWER MEAT PRICES

Housewives, making up their budgets, today turned hopefully toward the meat side of the menu, for meat prices were down somewhat at Faneuil Hall Market.

Smoked shoulders stood out as an economical buy, selling at 22 cents a pound, while legs and hams and loins of lamb are down to 31 cents a pound. Ham is also a good buy at 28 a pound.

Baby bluefish from the Cape, priced at 15 cents a pound, made its seasonal bow in the fish stable yesterday. Marketmen said the fish is unusually popular and pointed to its low price as an inducement to discriminating buyers.

Atch bones of beef are good at 28-32 a lb.; sirloin flanks are 30 a lb.; milk fed loin of veal, 32 a lb.; spare ribs, 18 a lb.; Scotch hams, 35 a lb.; steaks of beef, 15 a lb.; roast, 33 a lb.; first three ribs, 45 a lb.; roast pork, 28 a lb.; pork chops, 30 a lb.; Virginia hams, 45 a lb.; smoked tongues, 35 a lb.; fresh tongues, 50 a lb.; sweetbreads, 35 a lb.; veal-dish lamb chops are a little lower at 55 a lb.; while rib chops are down to 45 a lb. Top of the round is 59 a lb., and bottom of the round 49 a lb.

LOBSTER PRICES DOWN

Loose lobsters are a few cents this week, with large live selling at 45 a lb.; medium live, 40 a lb.; small, 35 a lb.; chicken live, 38 a lb. Fancy stewing oysters are 35 a pint; first of the season Rhode Island scallops are down from 65 to 60 a lb.; green shrimp, 40 a lb.; smoked cured fillets, 28 a lb.; large mackerel, 12 a lb.; Ipswich clams, 40 for a 3-qt. basket; smelts, 30 a lb.; finnan haddock, 20 a lb.; native swordfish, 40 a lb.; eastern salmon, 10 a lb.; cape butterfish, 15 a lb.; flounders, 15 a lb.; haddock, 30 a lb.; sole fillets, 40 a lb.; cod steak, 18 a lb.; native halibut, 35 a lb.; lake trout, 35 a lb.; baby sole fillets, 30 a lb.; cod tongues and cheeks, 18 a lb.; guinea haddock, 12 a lb.; cod, 9 a lb.

Native broilers are popular at 30-35 a lb., while the western variety are selling at 25-30 a lb. Roasting chickens are 25-30 a lb.; fowl, 28 a lb.; turkeys, 35 a lb.; frozen turkeys, 28-30 a lb.; quail, 50-75 each; pigeons, 25-40 each; guinea chickens, $2.10 a pair.

VEGETABLES UNCHANGED
Daily prices are the same as they were last week. The best chips are 10 a pound, but medium sized 40.

The best pork butler is 45 a lb., and the best rib butler is 42 a lb. Some cured butters are 37 a lb., and the unsalted butters 35 a lb.

Vegetable and fruit prices remain practically unchanged. Some excellent corn from New Hampshire is selling at 40 a dozen. Peas are 15 a lb.; radishes, 5 a bunch; celery, 10 a bunch; onions, 10 a lb.

44 VIRGINIA HARRINGTON TO BECOME BRIDE
An autumn wedding is being planned by Miss Virginia K. Harrington of Montpelier, Vt. and Freeman Winslow Hill of Boston, whose engagement is announced by the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Clark Harrington.
The future bride is a graduate of Miss Chamberlain's school, Mr. Hill, son of Dr. and Mrs. George Jackson Hill, is a Yale graduate and a member of Beta Theta Pi fraternity.

EVENING AMERICAN, FRIDAY, SEPT. 20, 1940

LISTEN, WORLD! By Elsie Robinson

IN ALL my visits to New York, I'd never seen her. I'd seen every other spotlight personality except the Tail Lady with the flaming torch who guards America's gates. So one late afternoon, I went down for a get-together.
Typically American, that drive from Forty-ninth st. to the old harbor, typical of its pomp and power.

Mills after mile of evidence of assured success. And then, beyond a circle of emerald lawn, a swirl of white-capped sea, I saw her at last — THE GODDESS OF LIBERTY.

Glorious! My heart leaped in the swift tribute every mortal must pay to her splendor and the thing she represents. Then, as swiftly, came the inevitable doubt we all are feeling in this mad age—did she still represent those things?
Or had she lost her meaning? And her potency?

THOSE tremendous buildings, that vast display of wealth—it was all impressive. But Belgium had been impressive, too, and Rotterdam and Paris. Now they were dead. Not only because of the blitzkriegs, but because the terrorists had been at work within.
Had they undermined America, too? "Let's go back another way," I said.

The sea fell behind. That incredible sky-line disappeared. We were in little streets now, narrow and dingy, crowded. Wrinkled old folk chattering in a dozen languages on the stoop, hanging out of the windows, ginning, gossiping, bantering jokes. Little shops bright as Oriental bazaars.

Then, at a turn, the street seemed to explode into a tornado of light and laughter, color and noise. Stoops and fire escapes jammed, now. Sidewalks overflowing with Spaniards, Italians, Japanese, Gypsies, Jews, Russians. Illuminated arches overhead—scarlet, blue, topaz, emerald green. Food stands bedecked with bunting, flags, paper flowers.

Surging down the asphalt, a carnival tide. Francing beauties in satin shorts and capes, twirling drum-major wands. Boy friends and brothers swagging past in an uproar of trumpets, drums and bell lures. Tinner, wide-eyed sisters solemn in confirmation veils. And swaying overhead, brilliant in its convoluted gold, a great canopied throne—a gentle-faced plaster saint steadied by a nervous young acolyte in vestments, celebrating the feast day of St. John.

People from the far corners of the earth, people of a score of creeds—cheering, singing, dancing, adoring. Celebrating without hindrance. Going their homely happy way without fear. Keeping what they wished of their old-world traditions, taking what they could of the new-world culture.

ACROSS the dark waters their people are dying, butchered by blitzkriegs, shackled by intolerance. But here, on New York's Broome st., these, their children, were building new hopes and homes.

Tail Lady, standing firm above a darkening sea, holding up her torch against a stormy sky—has she lost her meaning or her power? Is there justice still for the poor friendliness and fair play for the weak? She hasn't, and there is and ever more will be.

THANK GOD!

The Woman Who Lived in Hitler's House

48
EVENING AMERICAN, FRIDAY, SEPT. 20, 1940

The Story So Far:

Fraulin Kohler, beautiful young German girl, went to the dreaded Dachau concentration camp because she dared to cry out against Hitler and the Nazi regime.

Her good looks and forceful personality quickly won the sympathy of important persons. In consequence, she was released and given employment in the household of a party leader.

PAULINE KOHLER

Because of the suspicions and jealousies of the latter's wife, Fraulin Kohler lost her job. But her influential friends, again coming to her aid, found her a better one—this time, in the house of Chancellor Hitler.

Daily, in the Boston Evening American, she relates what she saw and heard in that mysterious mountain chalet in the years that preceded her escape to France.

Life in the Fuehrer's Berghof she has pictured as a mixture of piratical luxury, rigid discipline, medieval astrology, ultra-modern precautions against assassinations and perverse cruelty.

In detail, she has described Hitler's ordinary existence: his meatless diet, his craving for sweets, his insomnia and strange "cures," the bullet-proof vest he wears, and his fondness for British history.

On the authority of Hitler's assistant housekeeper, Elsa Holzmann, she had disclosed that the Fuehrer has a weak heart and that a surgeon removed one of his vocal cords, which was cancerous, and replaced it with tissue from his own body.

Among other interesting things, she had explained the mystery of Hitler's three doubles, one of which narrowly escaped death when struck by a bullet.

Yesterday she told how Chancellor Schuschnigg of Austria was ordered to Berchtesgaden and insulted by Hitler and his aggression-minded generals. ...

Now Continue:

By PAULINE KOHLER

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This story is published in installments. For confirmation of the authenticity of reports it is best to read the whole.)

THE MOMENT lunch was over, Hitler began again, threatening and bullying Chancellor Schuschnigg of Austria. He made outrageous demands, saying that Austrian Nazis, who were plotting the destruction of Austria, should have full equality with other Austrians. They must be equally represented in the government.

Schuschnigg's face went white. Every time he tried to speak Hitler's voice rose to a roar and silenced him.

And in the end, after eleven hours of this, Schuschnigg had to agree that Hitler promised to preserve Austria's independence.

But in one thing Schuschnigg stood firm. Hitler demanded that Schuschnigg, leader of the Austrian Nazis, should be made Minister of the Interior. Schuschnigg, however, said that he could not promise this until he had consulted Hitler, President of Austria.

Nothing could make him budge from this attitude. So Hitler let him go and, like a defeated general, Schuschnigg drove away.

He nearly drove to his death, for—and this has until now been a closely kept secret—Hitler had made elaborate plans to murder the Chancellor if it suited his purpose.

Three Austrians who had fled from Austria to find protection with the Fuehrer were involved in this plot, a plot which would have had greater repercussions than the Reichstag fire.

I only discovered the identity of one of them. He had served a five-year sentence in an Austrian jail for robbery with violence and after his release had become a fanatical Nazi.

Shortly before Schuschnigg's visit he and his two associates had been put through a rigorous drill with sub-machine guns and hand-grenades. They became extremely proficient in their use and were finally turned into efficient gangsters.

A DEATH TRAP

About five miles from Berchtesgaden, on the road along which Schuschnigg would have to travel on his return, is a little wood, hardly more than a copse. Here the three men were stationed on the day of the Chancellor's visit, all armed with their sub-machine guns and hand-grenades.

Fastened to a tree-trunk behind which they stood was a small red electric bulb, connected with a small button on Hitler's desk. Their eyes never left it.

When it glowed red they would have known Hitler had given the signal for them to hurl their greenades at Schuschnigg's car and, if he should escape the explosion, ride him with bullets.

There is no doubt that if Schuschnigg had remained intractable the signal would have been given and, instead of having to endure the horrors of imprisonment under the rule of the Gestapo, he would have been murdered. It might have been better that way.

Immediately after they were satisfied Schuschnigg was dead the three of them were to give themselves up to the German police and declare that they had acted as Austrian patriots unable any longer to tolerate Schuschnigg's mismanagement of his country.

Then they were to be tried—at a trial that would, of course, have enjoyed wide-world publicity. After a sentence of life-imprisonment, they would be secretly released.

At least, that was Hitler's promise, but I imagine they would have been secretly shot. Hitler would never have allowed them to live with such a secret in their hearts. But, as it happened, Hitler decided there was no need for Schuschnigg's murder.

GOERING FARES WELL

Another constant visitor at Berchtesgaden was Hermann Goering, fat, red-faced, blue-eyed gangster. But a jovial gangster. I never saw him in a bad temper. He was always cracking jokes. Coarse and obscene as most of them were, it was still a relief to discover someone who had kept his sense of humor.

Goering drinks a tremendous amount—beer and hock, chiefly, although he likes cognac, too. Time

There has been a lot of nonsense written about Goering's uniforms. He has no more than many other Nazi leaders. Actually his favorite suits are ordinary blue, faintly pin-striped lounge suits.

He is careful, too, about his tailoring. Whatever he wears fits as well as bulk perfectly. The first time I saw him he weighed just under 280 pounds. He was worried about it and went down to the kitchen himself to talk with the cooks and see if they could not provide him with food, large in bulk but non-fattening.

At one time he was losing a pound of weight each week and was as happy as a child about it. He used to tell everybody—Hitler and the servants included—just how much he weighed and just how fast his weight was going down.

Goering is not a religious man. He has always supported the paganism of the Third Reich. But one of his staff told me that he wears a small gold cross hanging from a chain round his bull-neck and that he never takes it off night or day.

He was once asked about it. He flushed with anger and roughly told the questioner to mind his own business.

FRIES JAILED SON

It may have some religious significance for the second man in the Reich or it may be some sentimental relic.

Goering is sentimental. He has the brutality of the Prussian officer and can, when necessary, be completely ruthless. But a really genuine appeal to him usually produces results.

I remember one case in particular.

personal note. "Best wishes for Christmas. But tell your boy to look here he speaks next time." Goering has passion for toys. His country home has one bedroom fitted up with a network of railway lines on which superb models of trains and most miniature "trains" through tunnels, and across bridges.

He was always bringing photographs of this room to Berchtesgaden, and discussing mechanical points with various mechanics on the staff.

FAIR-HAIRED CHILD

Hitler hates being touched. He only shakes hands when a ceremonial occasion demands it. But Goering slaps him on the back—and I think Hitler likes it.

For, in spite of their quarrels, the Fuehrer is very fond of Goering. He respects him, but has a real affection for Goering. Perhaps it is because Goering refuses to be bullied.

Goering is a magnificent shot. His hunting parties are famous. He loves shooting, though, quite apart from hunting. When the Third Reich crashes Goering, if he is left alive, could always earn a good living in the music-halls as a display revolver shot. He has often displayed his prowess in the gardens of Berchtesgaden.

He uses a .45-caliber six-shooter and his favorite trick is to stand six empty bottles on the ground thirty yards away from him. A marble is placed on the mouth of each bottle and Goering shatters each marble without touching the bottles.

And he is a good conjurer. He once wandered into the servants' quarters and performed some astonishing tricks.

But it would be unfair to think of him as only a rather crude buffoon. He works very hard, but seems to be able to get through a great deal without apparent effort. He is a man of quick decisions, able to say "yes" or "no" to any problem almost instantly. His staff are devoted to him, largely because he often takes the blame for their mistakes.

I have heard Hitler raging at the incompetence of some minor officials and Goering quietly tell him that he himself ordered them to do the job in that way. Then, more than Hitler's rage would subside, and that would be the end of the matter.

In spite of my rows, I think there has only been one serious dispute between Hitler and Goering.

I happened long before my time at Berchtesgaden. A woman was because of it. Rumors began to spread in Berlin and seep through to the provinces that Goering was very friendly with an actress.

The name of the actress was Emmy Sonnemann, a buxom blonde, with a bad voice and a poor figure, but a woman known throughout Germany.

Goering was the latest of her flirts. He bought her a little house in Dahlem, a fashionable Berlin suburb, and spent many weekends there.

About this time the Nazis were paying as puritans. Hitler heard about this affair and was furious. What was the good of exhorting Germans to be pure when his second-in-command was courting an actress?

ORDERED TO WED

So he ordered Goering to marry Emmy. Now Goering is an aristocrat and in his mind making a marriage to an actress and marrying a woman two entirely different things. But the Fuehrer was insistent.

So Goering, after many bitter protests, had to give way and marry Emmy. Hitler was present at the ceremony and at the luncheon held afterwards. He gave Goering a magnificent motor-car, and Emmy a pair of emerald pendants. He even gave me a watch. I saw Goering and his wife together it struck me that the Field-Marshal was quite happy in his marriage. She certainly was. Her conceit was tremendous. Her success in having got her Hermann to the altar had obviously gone to her head.

Meet the real rulers of Nazi Germany as they appear in private life. Don't miss tomorrow's installment of Pauline Kohler's amazing story.

Smart Set Functions

By BETTY ALDEN

TURNING BACK quite a few pages in the history of motor cars, members of the Veteran Motor Car Club of America will present something unique in fashion shows tomorrow afternoon at Raceland, John R. Macomber's famous estate in Framingham Center . . .

The affair will be a sort of carnival of old fashioned horseless carriages—with about 100 cars representing fashions in motors from 1898 to 1915 being driven under their own power in exhibitions and obstacle races . . . Drivers will add to the picturesque of the occasion by wearing Gay Nineties costumes . . .

Luncheon Will Precede Show

MOST of the cars are from private collections of prominent Boston automobile enthusiasts . . . Kirkland Gibson and George Waterman, Jr., of Chestnut Hill, who have recently acquired the famous Belmont mansion at Newport as a museum for their collection, are outstanding among the exhibitors, and others proudly displaying their comical old vehicles are Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Eliot, Mr. and Mrs. Cameron Bradley, and Vassar Pierce, president of the club . . .

Mr. Macomber will entertain a group of members and friends of the club at a buffet luncheon beforehand . . . Among the guests will be Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fiske, Mr. and Mrs. John Marshall, Professor and Mrs. Dean Fales, Mr. and Mrs. George A. Crittenton, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Sturges and many others . . .

Proceeds of the afternoon will benefit General Hospital No. 6, recruited from the staff of the Massachusetts General Hospital . . .

Dorothy West to Wed Soon

SEEN ABOUT TOWN . . . Diminutive Mrs. George Saltonstall West, trousseau shopping for her daughter, Dorothy, who will be Boston society's first war bride . . . Dottie will be married in the very near future to a British Army officer, Captain T. Desmond Butler of the Royal Welch Fusiliers and will probably spend the first part of her married life in Africa . . . Owing to orders of King George's Army, plans for the wedding must be kept secret . . .

The newlywed Mrs. Clarence H. Mavis being wished bon voyage as she departed for the West to join her bridegroom of a few months . . . Mrs. Mavis, the former Clara Barnes Everett of Hingham, was divorced last June from Henry C. Everett, Jr., of Hingham, and shortly after became the bride of Mr. Mavis in Reno . . . She spent most of the summer here visiting with her children, Clara and Henry Everett, 3d, and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Barnes of Marlborough st.

MRS. GEORGE WATERMAN, Jr., whose hubby owns one of Boston's biggest collections of old horseless carriages, will help him drive some at a Framingham fete tomorrow.

Red Cross Benefit

Miss Tracy, Secretary of the Red Cross, announced that the benefit concert will be held at the Boston Music Hall on Friday, September 10, for the benefit of the Red Cross.

With the help of Mrs. Tracy, the concert will be held at the Boston Music Hall on Friday, September 10, for the benefit of the Red Cross.

Plan Dog Show

Many a dog show has been held in the city, but none so large as the one planned for the coming season. The show will be held at the Boston Music Hall on Friday, September 10, for the benefit of the Red Cross.

DEAN JAGGER WINS ACTING HONORS IN 'BRIGHAM YOUNG'

51

Mary Astor Also Scores at Met

By PEGGY DOYLE

Arresting in its emphasis on religious tolerance and the vigorous pioneer spirit that blessed America of 100 years ago, "Brigham Young—Frontiersman," now showing on the Metropolitan screen, is bigger than the story of Mormonism and yet not as big as it leads you to expect.

Reminding one at every step as it pushes back a century that history and humans have a way of repeating themselves, this impressive film document makes vividly alive the Mormons' brave and defeating trek to the West.

Rooted from their tiny little settlement in Nauvoo, Ill., by the brutal and constant persecution of the town's inhabitants because they had found a different way to salvation, they moved on in their coverings to Council Bluffs, Ia., leaving their dead and dying behind them.

At every turn on their march to Salt Lake City, Utah, which was to be their eventual home, they were scourged with difficulties, and the worst of these was the intolerance of their fellow men. Only once were they welcomed, and that was when Big Elk, a noble-looking redskin, bid them make themselves at home on his reservation in the name of his tribe.

The courage of these men and women who cheerfully faced death for their religious beliefs is dramatically presented, and most effective, too, is Brian Donlevy's portrayal of a snide follower who would become the sect's Brigham Young.

Jagger, long sidetracked professionally in Hollywood, dominates the Darryl F. Zanuck production as the stalwart, two-fisted successor to Joseph Smith (Vincent Price), of more spiritual if less practical aspect. His is a magnificent, vital performance, one to send him sky-rocketing to starring roles henceforth.

As his first and favorite spouse, Mary Astor, is womanly, warmly appealing. There is no one who has greater faith in Brigham Young, and when he loses confidence in his capacity as leader it is she who restores it by her heartening counsel.

As a matter of fact, Jagger—and after him Miss Astor—so far overshadows everybody in the cast, including Tyrone Power and Linda Darnell, that for once the story has the go-light and the romantic details are all but ignored.

The multiple wives angle has been sidetracked as neatly as Jagger heretofore has been in Hollywood. The two references to polygamy in the picture are not in a serious vein and if you wish to crush up on this ersatz Mormon custom you'll have to get it from Vardis Fisher's "Children of God"—not from Lamar Trotti's excellent script based on Louis Bromfield's story.

OLYMPIA'S FILMS

"Pride and Prejudice," picturization of Jane Austen's comedy co-starring Greer Garson and Laurence Olivier, and "Gold Rush Maini," are to be seen on Washington Street Olympia screen, starting tomorrow.

Brian Aherne's Stage Hit Also Held Over at Loew's

Movie fans at the Loew houses are drawn for the most part by the four star "Boom Town," drama of romance and industrial strife in a Western oil well sector. They would go to see Clark Gable, Spencer Tracy, Claudette Colbert, and Hedy Lamarr working together no matter what the play was about. The stars are the big attraction in this instance.

But there is considerable entertainment in the second slate and Orpheum film, "The Lady in Question," which is also held over and which has Rita Hayworth playing the title role and Brian Aherne giving one of his best performances as the juror who first insists on convicting the lady in question and later on decides to take her home and give her a job and practically make her a member of his family.

There is an excellent cast with the two a's including George Coulouris, Irene Rich, Curt Bois, a rare comedian—Glen Ford, Lloyd Collette and Evelyn Keyes. Aherne is now starring in two Boston screens here—is having his biggest year in Hollywood.

Teagarden's Music Delights

By DON WARD

Swing music interpreted in masterly style by Jack Teagarden and his orchestra is the particularly stirring feature of the new RKO-Reston vaudeville revue which will give the Teagarden and blues boys and girls many a thrill for the next week and, incidentally, contribute one of the most popular stage shows to the American Legion celebration.

It is rare pleasure for the music enthusiasts who like to hear their favorite players and singers mount in low to sit under the spell of Mr. Teagarden and his trombone, notably in the "On Revival Day" number, which is old plantation tunes, and "I Swung an Election." But that is only one of the best spots in this richly staged jubilee as witness the band boys swinging their way deliciously in the Teagarden version of "Swing with a Vengeance" which brings out the high school orchestra, the band, and the entire cast.

of that demon drummer try, El Collins.

Hilda Simmons and David Allen, the singing accents, Betty Bruce takes the spotlight for "Swing with a Vengeance." The band brothers know old timer all over the stage the Teagarden band fame, does in fact, twirling in a major key. The Hyde amazes all again with his one-man band guitar. He's not just a one-man band.

52 Corcoran to Aid 3d Term Drive

NEW YORK, Sept. 20 (INS)—Thomas G. ("Tommy") Corcoran, New Deal financier, considered by some the most powerful man in Washington outside of President Roosevelt, is to resign his post in the REC shortly to become the "mastermind" of Mayor LaGuardia's campaign to carry New York state for Roosevelt, it was learned today.

As he is special counsel for the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, "Tommy the Cork," as he is called by the provisions of the Hatch "clean politics" act from any political campaign activities whatsoever.

For this reason, say insiders, Corcoran will resign the $2500 a year job and become a member of the committee being organized by Mayor LaGuardia to push the Roosevelt third term campaign in New York.

Happy Because Her
Hearing Is Coming Back

Mrs. L. A. Wardbough, Berkeley, Cal., writes: "I had been suffering from a loss of hearing for some time. It is BRINGING BACK MY HEARING AND I'm so grateful. If you are HAVING HEARING PROBLEMS, CLOUGED UP EARS, RINGING IN EARS, DIZZINESS caused by hard impacted wax blocking ear canals and pressing on sensitive eardrums try Orotone Drops. They're safe, painless, and often prove a blessing to the deafened when the cause is impacted wax. Epstein's Drug & Supply Co."

Newsom Opposes Harder As Crucial Series Opens

DETROIT, Sept. 20 (AP)—The props were placed and the actors and audience were ready today for baseball's super-super spectacle of the year—the Cleveland Indians vs. the Detroit Tigers, with the American League pennant as the probable prize for the winner.

SOX HEAD FOR YANKS

EN ROUTE TO NEW YORK. Sept. 20—Time is dragging heavily on the "Wait Until Next Year" Red Sox as they train to Yankee Stadium where they engage Joe McCarthy's charges in single games over the weekend.

Mathematically out of running for the American League pennant, they are rapidly throwing away any chance to finish in the first division.

It was an odd team that left for New York, a team that had to be the Commission's first step-day, and example. "The Red Sox" of the "Wait Until Next Year" Sox. He scattered nine Sox hits and allowed but one run. He was scored in the first inning when two Sox tied together doubles, for the only Boston run.

LUPIN CLICKING

Ulysses Lupien, who was recalled from Little Rock, registered the first two-bagger and came home on Johnny Peacock's contribution.

Lupien is a Massachusetts boy who captained the 1933 team at Harvard and who led the Ivy League in hitting with a mark approximating 500. He batted .321 at Stratton after graduation last year and has had a fine season in the dusty, broiling Arkansas town this season.

He proved he could hit big league pitching down South last spring, and when he batted for Lefty Grove in the first game of the series here Wednesday, he came through with a resonant customers before its conclusion on Sunday.

The weather prediction was "cloudy with scattered showers." Each team has won 25 games and lost 61, and each club still has eight games left to play. The closeness of the struggle is further illustrated by the fact that the teams have divided 16 games this year. From the veteran Tigers and the younger Indians came the word that they are well conditioned for the big test. Detroit has Louis (Buck) Newsom, Lynwood Howe and Tommy Bridges (three hurlers the Indians haven't beaten this season) ready to work in order.

BOBO TELLS INDIANS

Cleveland will retaliate with Mel Harder, Al Milnar and Bobby Feller. Feller a mystery to other clubs, has been beaten three times by Detroit.

Tiger officials predicted an attendance of between 30,000 and 40,000 today and visitors of more than 55,000 for Saturday and Sunday.

Newsom, the self-appointed spokesman for the Tigers, assured his public that he would take care of the Indians today.

"I've pitched against that Cleveland team twice this year and beat 'em both times," Newsom said. "As soon as they show up Ol' Bobo will take care of 'em." Newsom has won 19 games and lost four this season but hasn't been too good in a couple of recent starts.

TIGERS SWEET LAST SERIES

Harder, another veteran right-hander, has always been a difficult moundman for Detroit to hit.

Detroit's high position is due almost entirely to slugging—particularly that of the lion-headed Hank Greenberg, Rudy York and Barney McCoskey, who still hasn't heard about that sophomore year jinx.

The Tigers practically blew the Indians out of Briggs Stadium here earlier this month when they utilized homers to sweep a three game series and come from four games back into contention for the pennant.

Storm signals for the Cleveland pitching staff went up yesterday when the Tiger made 27 hits good for 51 bases in sweeping a double header with the Philadelphia Athletics 13 to 2 and 10 to 1. Meanwhile, Cleveland was defeating Washington 3 to 1.

GREENBERG SETTING PACE

In the 17 games Detroit has played on its present home stand Greenberg has batted .434, his hits including 13 homers. York has batted .449 over the same stretch, and has driven out eight home runs.

The homer hitting of York and Greenberg has enabled the Tigers to set a new major league record of 17 consecutive games in which one of their number has hit a homer.

EDDIE CASEY NAMED BOSTON BEARS COACH

Eddie Casey today was named coach of the Boston Bears, Boston's latest professional football club. The appointment was made by Sheldon Fairbanks, owner of the local franchise.

EDDIE CASEY

Former Harvard head coach, who will mastermind Boston's new professional football eleven, the Bears.

Casey last guided football he played in the Harvard field. Following his graduation Harvard, Casey went in football coaching. He even was named head football coach Harvard.

While Casey coached football at Harvard he became noted in professional football coaching in the States.

More recently Casey's New England director of that National Youth Administration. He has kept in close touch with professional football, and will in charge immediately of the Red squad that has been training in addition.

Little, 'Jug' Match Strokes At Winchester

Winchester Country Club will be the scene of what promises to be one of the best golf matches of the year tomorrow and Sunday when Lawson Little, national open champion, and Winchester's Harold "Jug" McSpaden match strokes.

The pair will settle a golfing grudge over 18 holes tomorrow and wind up the match Sunday in completing the 36-hole play.

This will mark Little's first appearance here in a singles match since 1934, when he paroled through a classy field to win the National Amateur at Brookline. Since then he has turned professional. Among other titles, Little has won the Canadian open, San Francisco match play and the American open.

McSpaden is recognized as one of the best match players among the pros and, on top of that, his knowledge of the Winchester course will be of big advantage.

Tomorrow's play will start at 3:15 with the final round Sunday at 2:30.

Mulligan Fights In Radio Bowl

New England Champion Jimmy Mulligan, Lowell, will step into a lot of stiff competition tonight at Radio Bowl, Medford, when he tries to walk off with the welterweight crown in the first fall amateur boxing show of the 1941 Infantry Post.

With Haverhill Mike Coccozza in the battling, the amateur titleholder can expect plenty of trouble. Coccozza, mixing some fine boxing skill with some flaccid clowning, looms as a serious threat to any fighter in the 147-pound class and cannot be overlooked. Other threats in this division include Johnny Lopes, Newport, R. I., and Fred Howard, Haverhill. Austin Elder, Cambridge, heads the entries in the middleweights.

double, one of the nine hits the Sox got off Bob Harris.

He played first base yesterday, while Capt. Jimmy Fox, who has done yeoman service at first base and behind the bat this season, played third base while Manager Joe Cronin nursed his slightly spiked hand.

Lefty Earl Johnson started for the Red Sox, but was forced to leave in the Red Sox half of the fifth with a severe pain in his stomach.

In four frames he had limited the Browns to three hits and no runs.

He was replaced by Bill Fleming, who held the Browns to four hits, but permitted three of them to come in the seventh for the two runs that meant another defeat on this unhappy trip.

Rams Favored To Whip Huskies

KINGSTON, R. I., Sept. 20—The Rams of Rhode Island State, fortified by 240 pound Warner Keaney and the sensational Duke Abbruzzi, are favored over promising Northeastern in the opening game for both teams at Meade Field here tomorrow.

The visiting Huskies will present the lineup which includes three veterans, four other letter men and four stars from last year's good freshman team. The Husky reserves will be almost entirely second year men.

The Northeastern veterans are Capt. Dear Williams at tackle, Ed Barry at tailback and Ronnie Tubbs at spinning back. Ed Macfarland of Wintrop, who will play the wing position, is the only sophomore to gain a starting backfield post.

This beer is made solely from hops and barley-malt and no other grain and is therefore a "malt" beer. This is the way fine imported beers are brewed; it is the distinction which, in popular opinion, sets Trommer's apart as a more palatable and thoroughly satisfying brew.

Off-Shore Gunners Get in Some Shooting

By DARK MONTREAL

SEPT. 20, 1940
FRIDAY, AMERICAN

The off-shore gunners came into their own on Wednesday. The sea had moderated sufficiently on Tuesday to permit the dory coot fleet to venture out but, although there was still a fair breeze, few birds were moving. Wednesday, warm, bright and with only a gentle breeze ruffling the sea, saw many flights on the wing. Tuesday was more of a coot weather day but Wednesday, with all conditions seemingly adverse, brought the real shooting. I wouldn't attempt to explain it.

The day was so bluebirdy that, driving down to Manomet Point, I didn't even take a gun. Birds were driving all over the coot line, and the few boats off shore were getting fine shots. Imagine my embarrassment. And imagine my further embarrassment when I discovered the water still so dirtied up from the Monday storm that there was no tautog fishing to speak of. I caught three fish which I returned in the hope of catching them again five years hence.

Game Warden Pete Choteau was at the point checking up on licenses, duck stamps and bags and the flight looked so attractive he went out for a half-hour himself. He killed eight birds with seven shots which is a very neat trick if you can do it. He can because he knocks high-tossed ducks with a .22 rifle.

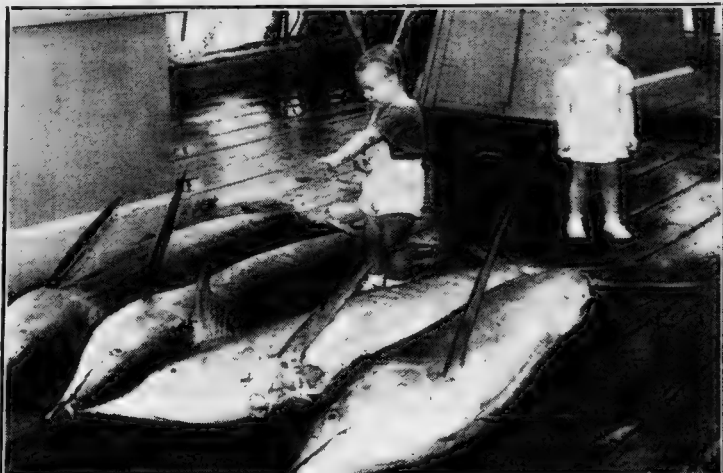

I saw one 16 gauge double being used on coot with good effect off the point. For a couple of years I have been unsuccessfully kidded for using a .410 gun on ducks yet I have had some success with this on coot and ducks, too, though it ad-mitedly isn't a practical weapon.

In addition to the increase of ducks reported on the Canada breeding grounds by Ducks, Inc., our own local spots have done exceedingly well and there are many more breeders on location in Massachusetts than for eight or ten years. And just yesterday word came from Pleasant Bay at Nauset that geese are already on hand in good number.

The outlook for game generally is vastly improved. After a trip upstate Bill Thatcher passes the word that the Quabbin reservoir is fast filling up and that the state's closing of the vast surrounding area has made it a perfect game refuge. Many more deer than ever are reported all over the area, and Tony Shea, at Ware, says the partridge are plentiful. A big bull moose, first seen in western Massachusetts in several years, was sighted last week on the shore of Hardwick Pond, next town to Ware.

Old Camp Helen Winter where we based for many a trout fishing expedition on the west branch of 'LIKE THAT'—James Michael Anthony of Avalon gives a long count to marlin swordfish No. 4 for the edification of his girl friend. 'Some day, I'm goin' to catch one that big,' says James Michael proudly. Fish were caught at Santa Catalina.

Swift river and where, come the first week of December, we annually journeyed for our "deer hunting" trip has been torn down. The memories of the grand times we had there will have to stand as the monument. Soon the water will be up to the foot of the Pelham road winding through that wild country. Some day I will write the story of those "deer hunts" and of how one of my Alvie Fisher of friends, Dark actually spoiled the party by shooting a deer.

There has been no hunt taken on rod and reel out of Ipswich Bay since Labor Day, when Paul Bauer killed a 319 pounder, and chances are that none will be taken now until next season. Many of the sports cruisers have left their Annapolis moorings. It seems to me the fish stayed a little later last year, but Paul says no. They were still at Wedgeport last week I know.

Tiger Fans Sing 'Rock A Bye Baby' To Visiting Indians

DETROIT, Sept. 20 (AP)—The Cleveland Indians received a cool reception when they arrived here last night for their all-important three-game series with the Detroit Tigers opening this afternoon.

At Union Depot a crowd of youths estimated by police at 200 booed the Indians and "Lefty" Wiseman, Cleveland trainer, was struck in the back by an over-ripe tomato.

The crowd followed the Indians to their hotel and stood outside singing "Rock-A-Bye-Baby-In-The-Tree-Top" until paper bags containing water were thrown from upper floor windows. The group then dispersed.

COLBY GRID TEAMS MATCH GLAMOR OF NEW CAMPUS

By AUSTEN LAKE

WATERVILLE, Me., Sept. 20—COLBY COLLEGE IS GOING glamorous. The little seat stained institution with its ancient, ghostly halls and its dingy setting beside the B. & M. freight tracks is undergoing a Cinderella transformation. For the Colby which its alumni remember as a conglomerate hodgepodge of weather-worn brick, limestone and granite, is going to be deserted and junked. A new dream college is springing up a few miles north of Waterville in Mayflower Hill—colonial-style city of culture which silhouettes against the rugged Maine hills and looks down on the winding Kennebec. The central library, modelled after Dartmouth's Baker Memorial, is built. The dignified Baptist chapel with its ripples of terraces, is complete. The quadrangular dormitories, the men's and women's Unions are under construction.

Powerful tractors are bulldozing the grounds, gouging out an artesian well with waters that go cascading down a series of graduated falls. Steam-shovels are chewing an athletic field from a shale ledge and will be ready for autumn in 1941. Winding drives and arched vistas are taking form from what was recently a boulder-strewn, pine-whiskered wilderness. And when it is done, perhaps a year hence, Colby, from a smoke-smutted architectural ragtag (there are those who love it thus) will be the most eye-charming small college in New England. And if you think my glib words are too vivid, just ride up 175 miles to Waterville and take a personal peek. For life at Colby is beginning again at 123.

It was raining—great, depressing gusts of equinoctial moisture which swirled through the elms and bubbled in the gutters of the old gymnasium—an athletic, stiltlike structure which was reared in great grandpa's time when dumbbells, flying rings and such antedated gym-cracks of the primitive Phys-ed period were the only aids to exercise. Yet it was raining liquid nickels, quarters and dimes, and behind the old gym, where a large, glass-rooted football cage lay in the hollow of a hill, Colby's weather-bound football refugees were huddling through formations, raising throat-clogging clouds of dust.

DAGGETT THE BOY

They were kids of average thickness of thigh and breadth of shoulder, some in fishman green and some in vanity blue as Coach

Al McCoy, the old Lafayette Maroon, and I watched from a balcony.

"Johnny," shouted McCoy, as his voice came bouncing back from a myriad echoes, "Ja...ahn...nay!"

A small wiry youth separated from the herd on the floor and came clattering up the stairs—little Johnny Daggett of the Waterville Daggetts, current Colby captain and halfback with an "All New England" classification who, in build, size and action suggests something of Harvard's old midwest immortal, Eddie Casey. For Daggett, like Eddie Casey, is one of these out-size football paradoxes, a man with a small frame who hits like a giant, fluid hips and high knee action which enable gives a tackle more than a shoebox or a belt loop to snatch.

McCoy, who was at Lafayette in the old lusty rawhide day when men braided the hair in their ears and scratched matches on their chins, uses what he describes as the Hallow system, a mixed assortment of trickies which include reverse, spinners, floating backs and such-like designed by Richard Cresson himself.

Most of these are framed around Daggett, whom McCoy terms his "kewaway back." And it's worked reasonably well, too, so well that during McCoy's tenure Colby has beaten Tufts and Middlebury (for the first time in history), New Hampshire (for the first time in 24 years), Bates (for the first time in 10 years) and Maine (for the first time at Orono).

HEGAN STILL PITCHING

It's a good looking, bigger team than most small colleges and a better balanced line than we would elsewhere this year, but three ends will be Eero Hein, the only Junior letter-man and a high school bond, tireless and typical of his racial strain, John Laine, a black-haired, swarthy six-footer, who is making newspaper work his objective; Harold Huber, a pluto farmer from Arcostock (has a wabbit hole) and Hal Hegan (Lynn, the best pass receiver on the squad and brother of Lynn Cinnola's Jimmy, the catcher whom Cleveland kidnaped from high school in '38 and a lot of scandalized hellos).

Pictorial review of Colby's gridiron squad, with its many Greater Boston boys, on Page 62.

McCoy studied his squad for a moment, frowning a little souly and called down, "Where's Hegan?" A student manager shrugged and said "Playing hockey." McCoy set his jaw. "He's gone off to pitch ball for some mountain club," he growled, "a fine semi pro pitcher, but wish he'd let me know."

Mr. BOSTON

By JACK CONWAY

TAKE A STROLL around the barns at Narragansett Park, then walk in the vicinity of the paddock, clubhouse and grandstand, and you will find people talking about the probable winner of the $25,000 Narragansett Special tomorrow. It is a race of name horses and that is what makes it appeal to American racegoers.

"Challedon should win," is the consensus.

That was what they were saying before the wonder horse was beaten by Eight Thirty and Hash in the $50,000 Massachusetts Handicap.

"I know Challedon lost in the big race at Suffolk Downs," said a veteran horseman. "He wasn't ready for that race. True, he had beaten Many Stings, but that was only a two-horse race where he did not have to worry about three or four horses coming at him together. Jockey George Woolf didn't have to concern himself with a group of jockeys ganging up on him."

VISCOUNTY

An owner of $1000 platters joined the discussion.

"A heavy favorite like Challedon always has a certain amount of percentage running against him," said the owner, "and it doesn't make much difference whether it is a $25,000 handicap or a $1000 claiming race.

"The long shot players are not the only ones who like to beat a favorite. Every trainer, jockey and owner connected with another stable in the race is trying to bring grief to the betting choice.

"This is why a favorite frequently finds it difficult to get clear racing room. The jockeys on the other thoroughbreds try to make things as uncomfortable for the people's choice as possible, and while they are doing so the favorite has all kinds of trouble and an outside betting choice frequently comes along to take all."

Challedon Must Get Away Well

SOME DAY when you are at the track and they are having a start in front of the grandstand, get down close to the rail, and watch the actions of the horses in the electrical starting gate. These thoroughbreds do not like to be boxed up in a limited area any more than you would.

They don't all get into the starting stalls at the same time. Those in first usually keep moving nervously backward and forward, kicking and using up energy.

The starter does his best to get the horses lined up even before he permits them to break, but at the moment the starter decides to let the field break, a restless horse may back away from the front part of the stall. Such a move may send him away one to two lengths behind the field, and he may find himself in all kinds of trouble before he reaches the clubhouse turn.

The horses come out of the stalls as they are pointed at the break. If two horses are pointed in slightly opposite directions and there is a horse in between them there is frequently a jam, and the horse in the middle has to be taken back by his jockey. This move often means the difference between winning and losing.

So Challedon must get away well if he is to run like the odds on favorite he probably will be at post time.

I shall always remember the day at Rockingham Park that Alfred W. Vanderbilt's Discovery was an odds on choice. Advising Ana broke fast from the outside, while Discovery got away poorly. Advising Ana never was headed. A few days later at Narragansett Park Discovery broke well and won easily.

Vanderbilt used to ask the stewards to keep an assistant starter behind Discovery who would be under instructions to hit the horse with the whip at the break. Such practices are not permitted with the Puett gate.

Discovery Raced to Victory Through Fog

IN A MASSACHUSETTS Handicap at Suffolk Downs, Discovery got away last. There was a fog on the backstretch, and when Discovery entered it he was in last place. When the Vanderbilt horse came out of the fog at the head of the stretch, he was 15 lengths in front and won easily.

Challedon has the power to overcome a poor start, but it is never certain that a horse will do so. Thoroughbreds often pin their ears back when they get bumped around at the start, and fail to run their best race.

Racing in the big handicaps in New England have been kept clean by Tom Thorp, Billy Almy, Frank Bryan, Herman Conklin, Charley Stickney, Sam Nuchols and the other stewards, but one cannot overlook the fact every jockey in tomorrow's big race at Narragansett Park will have his eyes on Challedon at the start, and will be trying to think of legitimate ways to beat the William L. Brann horse.

Challedon may win, but he won't be carrying any of my stray $2 bills. I am trying to pick a winner from among Eight Thirty, Isolator, Hash, Viscounty, Burning Star, Honey Cloud, Wag Dog, Yale O' Nine and Counterpoise.

Since the Yanks let me down, I am more set than ever against these odds on choices. They may win now and then but when they do you may have them.

B. C. Blows Off N. E. Grid Lid Tomorrow With Centre

Frank Leahy's Boston College Eagles will pry the lid off the local collegiate grid season when they meet the Praying Colonels of Centre College tomorrow afternoon at Alumni Field.

Seven men who started against Holy Cross and Clemson last season will again man first string spots when the Leahymen answer the opening whistle. Three of the remaining four starters saw duty in the Cotton Bowl and won letters last fall. Only "Mighty Mike" Holovak, 196 pound raw bone fullback from Lansford, Pa., was not a member of last year's varsity. "Mighty Mike," standout performer on the freshman eleven last season, will attempt to fill the shoes of resigned Frank Davis.

In starting his best eleven tomorrow Leahy will do so not so much because he fears the Colonels, though he respects the Southerners, but more in the form of preparation for next week's clash with Tulane at New Orleans. The Eagle mentor wants to get his best eleven in perfect working order for the Green Wave.

62 COLBY'S 'ON TO VICTORY' SONG RINGS TRUE

EVENING AMERICAN, FRIDAY, SEPT. 20, 1940

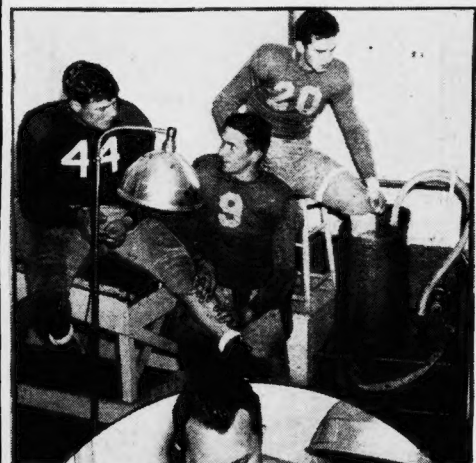

COLBY VISITORS

'GOTCHA'—Eero Helin, end from Quincy, snares pass over shoulder. Helin is a standout and is expected to captain Colby eleven another season.

college gridiron squad in Maine. Colby is coached by Al McCoy, former head man at Northeastern, and an old Newton High, Dean Academy, Lafayette and Penn State end.

ponder, whose dad runs a hotel directly across from the college campus; Del Maheson (a 200-pound sophomore from Ipswich); Bill Hughes (Quincy, wants a teacher-coaching job next year); and Louis Volpe (another Quincy kid—there are five on the squad). It's a big and rangy tackle squad with lots of anchorage (averages 154).

The guards will be Jimmy Daly (brother of Boston College's Leo) who is reckoned one of the best guards in Colby history (he married a Waterville girl named Shirley Furbush after the Bates game last year and works summers in a local toothpick works—no kidding!); then Dick DeNazio (who never played football before coming to Colby); Elliott Kraft (Brookline) Abdul Hassan; Mel Baum (Malden; he drives a truck during summers) and Irving Liss (Quincy).

LOST ALL-STAR CENTER

Center? McCoy looked half fearful. "Lost the best center in Maine," he mourned, "Joe O'Neill busted out."

As a matter of record the casualties among Colby athletes is heavy, and of the 78 youths pictured in the last three freshman teams, 38 flunked out, and only 26 are playing. So the center job this fall will be a toss up between Eddie Loring (Framingham), Ernest Weidul (Dedham), Charley Cross and Rex MacNamee. McCoy proposes to shift Weidul to a tackle position with occasional trials as a blocking back.

"We have to be interchangeable," said he, "we haven't enough depth."

Here then is, at first glance, one of the most promising lines in small college football, the antithesis of the current college complaint. Colby, beaten only once last year (Bowdoin 6-0) will give any and all of its seven opponents vigorous afternoons.

Dick White, the 260 pound blocking back of last year's Colby team, is playing with the Philadelphia pro Eagles this semester, so that position goes to John Stevens, a scholarly type who took all of McCoy's plays home with him this summer and rehearsed them after hours in a pipe factory. Abe Ferris, dark-skinned lad who runs a local filling station and is a licensed air pilot, is Stevens' understudy.

Then comes Daggett.

"He played the Bowdoin game last year with a broken jaw," said McCoy. "Got it in the Vermont game and didn't report anything about it."

Daggett is the focal point of the backfield, an all around athlete who holds the state broad jump and indoor pole vault record. His father wrote the Colby Football song "On to Victory". Behind him comes Wendell Brooks, Dean's list student and a good passer with a galloping, kangaroo kind of stride. Then Bobby LaFleur, a strawberry blond, curly headed sophomore and Irvin MacIlraith (Tome School) and the only private school boy on the squad.

GOOD COLBY TEAM

Finally there is a strapping boy named Dan Scioletti, a sophomore fullback from Swampscott (200 pounds) who runs, kicks and passes and favors quick cutbacks through tackle. He looks as though he'll gain Colby some yardage this year.

In round figures this sums up to another good Colby team as good, perhaps, as the one which tied Bowdoin for the state title last fall. Four of its seven games will be played away from its own oval (C. C. N. Y. at New York, Oct. 5; Vermont at Burlington, Oct. 12; Maine at Orono, Nov. 2; and Bates at Lewiston, Nov. 11. New Hampshire, Sept. 28; Middlebury, Oct. 19, and Bowdoin, Oct. 26, will be played at Waterville, the last season that Colby will play on the intown field).

Furniture Men Battle Wednesday For Golf Trophy

The New England Furniture Men's Golf Association will hold its 16th annual tournament next Wednesday at Wollaston Golf Club. More than 200 furniture men from Bangor to Bridgeport are expected to compete in the golf play and to attend the banquet in the evening.

Highlight of the day will be the presentation of the Frank H. Houlihan trophy, in honor of the first president of the Furniture Men's G. A. It is a magnificent affair, 46 inches high. It will be awarded by his son Robert.

Other awards which the golfers will be shooting for are the H. Warren Beard trophy; the New England Furniture News trophy; the Wollaston trophy and the Bowlers' trophy.

To Camp Today—Pvt. Joseph Prebensen is yanked out of deep sleep by Sgt. Charles Morrison at the First Corps Cadets armory... preparatory to the departure of the 211th Coast Artillery

It's the Life—Privts. Henry Jarvis and Arnold Paon of the 211th Coast Artillery passed the physical examinations and are enthusiastically awaiting the trucks that will take them to camp. They're in the army now.

By, By Boston—With each man allowed to take a foot-locker in addition to his barracks bag, the privates co-operate in lugging their duffel to the trucks

Goodby

Mrs. Mary Thompson of Cambridge bids goodby to her son, Pvt. James A. Thompson of the anti-aircraft regiment as the first battery prepared to leave for the Falmouth camp, where the men will be trained with the very latest equipment of the U. S. Army. Meanwhile, officers said that since the regiment was taken over by the government, enlistments have grown steadily.
